But out of danger now

Nixon's doctor says President risked life on Mideast visit

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (UPI) — President Nixon, who knowingly risked his life by traveling to the Middle East with a permanent blood clot in his leg, says he is in "good shape" and feeling no pain, his chief spokesman said today.

White House press secretary Ronald Ziegler said Nixon's left leg still is "a little swollen" but his doctors insist there is "no longer any danger" from thrombo-phlebitis, an inflammation and clotting in the veins.

Nixon also told Ziegler that he "feels good and is catching up on his rest" since his return Wednesday night from Moscow where he held a week of summit talks with Communist leader Leonid I. Brezhnev.

According to Dr. Walter Tkach, the White House physician, Nixon was warned that there "was an outside chance the condition could take his life" when he was examined June 10 in Salzburg, Austria, a rest stop before his Middle East peace mission.

Tkach told reporters that Nixon "took a calculated risk" and "it could have killed him."

But Nixon, Tkach said, "felt he had an obligation" to make the trip to the Middle East. Tkach and his assistant, Dr. William Lukash, agree the clot now has attached itself permanently to the wall of the vein, is in a "fixed position." It therefore no longer threatens to break loose and lodge itself in the heart or lungs, which could be fatal.

Nixon no longer is receiving medication, Tkach said, but may always suffer some swelling in the leg.

Nixon spent Independence Day at his Florida home resting from his Middle East and Moscow trips. He swam in the pool, walked on the beach and went for a ride on the yacht of his close friend, Charles G. "Bebe" Rebozo.

Tkach said Nixon first felt discomfort in his leg June 8 at Camp David, Md., the weekend before the Middle East trip.

He said Nixon said nothing about it to his doctors until June 10, during his first stop in Salzburg, Austria.

It was there that Tkach and an associate physician, Dr. William Lukash, diagnosed the condition and considered hospitalization, Tkach said.

"We had an obligation and we told him what the potential hazards would be of a clot breaking off and hitting his heart or lungs," he said.

"The President said he understood but had an obligation to make the trip to the Middle East."

Press Secretary Ronald L. Ziegler said Nixon also ordered that the ailment not be announced because he did not want the Arab and Israeli leaders constantly to ask, "How's your phlebitis?"

The phlebitis—but not the clot—was disclosed by the White House on the eve of Nixon's June 25 departure for Moscow, after CBS correspondent Dan Rather told of it in a newscast.

MURDER SUSPECT CAPTURED

Manacled hand and foot, murder-kidnap suspect John Card is helped into a Glen County sheriff's car after his capture in Truckee Thursday. Attended by a swarm of deputies from at least three counties, Card was transferred from the Nevada County facility just before midnight.

Loot includes machine guns, hand grenades

COMPTON, Calif. (UPI) — Hundreds of rifles, machine guns, shotguns, grenade launchers and ammunition have been stolen from an unguarded National Guard armory in Compton, police reported today.

Police detectives, FBI agents, and military officials who discovered the theft Thursday night said it was not immediately known what time the break-in occurred.

The facility had been locked up Wednesday morning at 10 a.m. and military units returned at 10 p.m. Thursday night after taking part in an Independence Day parade.

Among the weapons stolen were 70 M60 machine guns, 80 M-16 rifles, eight grenade launchers, 150 bayonets, 40 grenades, 100 riot grenades, 75 gas masks and thousands of rounds of ammunition.

Police said the thieves gained entry to the armory by smashing in a side door of the one-story stucco building. They then unscrewed bolts from security hasps to a supply room and broke the door.

The intruders used power drills to open the weapons vault, which contained all of the firearms, then apparently hauled the arms away in trucks. No suspects were in custody.

Col. Andrew Wolf, state information officer for the state Military Department, said it was not unusual for the armory to be left unguarded.

Wolf said it was "monetarily impossible" to maintain 24-hour watch of National Guard armories which are currently in the process of having electronic intruder devices installed.

He said the Compton armory, however, had not yet been equipped with the devices.

Douglas order frees radio station manager

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Radio station manager Will Lewis, jailed for refusing to give the FBI the original of a tape recording by Patricia Hearst, has been ordered released from federal prison by Supreme Court Justice William O. Douglas.

Douglas Wednesday ruled that "substantial First Amendment claims" had been raised on Lewis' behalf, enough to justify his release on his own recognizance. At the federal correctional institution on Terminal Island here, officials said they were waiting for a written order that would set Lewis free. The order was expected to come today.

Lewis, the 42-year-old general manager of station KPFK, was jailed for contempt by U.S. District Court Judge A. Andrew Hauk June 19, after he refused to surrender the tape or answer grand jury questions.

The recording, found in a rubbish area behind the station June 7, contained messages from Miss Hearst and Symbionese Liberation Army members William and Emily Harris.

The station turned over a copy of the tape to the FBI, but withheld the original, which authorities said they needed to check for fingerprints and to try to trace where it came from.

Lewis argued that giving up the tape would turn KPFK into an arm of law enforcement, endangering the free flow of information from persons who would no longer trust the station.

In a short written commentary, Douglas ordered Lewis freed pending his appeal of the contempt sentence.

"I indicate no view on the merits but the applicant being a newsman with all First Amendment protections and with no criminal record, I have entered an order releasing him on his personal recognizance pending decision of his appeal," Douglas wrote.

Stakeout bags murder-kidnap suspect

TRUCKEE, Calif. (UPI) — John W. Card, suspected of killing three persons and kidnaping three others, was arrested Thursday by FBI agents staking out a holiday flea market.

Agents said Card, a burly 6-foot-2 woodcutter, was captured without a struggle. He was armed with a .45-caliber pistol and was carrying more than $3,000 in cash, they said.

A .30-caliber hunting rifle was found in his car, they said.

Card, 26, of Willows, was suspected of killing veterinarian C. B. Griffiths, his wife and teen-aged daughter in that Sacramento Valley town eight days ago.

Earlier, a widow and her two children, who allegedly had been held hostage by Card, freed themselves after being chained to a tree at a campsite in the Sierra foothills near Colusa, Calif., 50 miles north of Sacramento.

Kay Skillin, 34, and her children, Wesley, 13, and Debbie, 12, were kidnaped last Saturday from their ranch near Willows.

They told police they were treated well as they traveled with their abductor to Utah and Nevada, spending the nights in motels or in a camper pickup truck along the edge of the highway.

Deputies from three counties staked out the Truckee area, near the Nevada border, most of the day.

They did not say how they learned Card would be in town. The 240-pound former high school football tackle was arrested at the market, which was part of July 4 festivities.

Investigators said that Mrs. Griffiths was shot to death last Friday after her husband and and daughter were killed near their ranch. She earlier had been forced to cash two checks totaling $5,250 at a bank and a grocery store.

The Glenn County district attorney said Card was to be charged with murder and kidnaping. No bail was set .

Less than 100 traffic deaths in holiday's first 24 hours

By United Press International

Less than 100 persons lost their lives on the nation's highways during the first 24 hours of this Fourth of July weekend, when traffic is usually at its heaviest, a United Press International survey shows.

The coast-to-coast fatality count indicated the National Safety Council may have been right in issuing its low estimate of traffic deaths for the four-day holiday period.

The council, which has estimated between 450 and 550 persons will be killed in traffic mishaps between 6 p.m. local time Wednesday and midnight Sunday, credited slower-driving motorists for the reduced estimate.

The record traffic death toll for a four-day Fourth of July period was 760 in 1972, when the council had estimated an all-time high of 800 to 900 fatalities.

"The lifesaving trend in traffic accidents that appeared last winter at the onset of the energy crisis still seems to be with us," council president Vincent Tofany said. He estimated the trend could save more than 200 lives during the holiday period.

The council also urged motorists to observe posted speed limits and use seat belts, suggesting the belts could prevent up to 125 projected fatalities.

A United Press International count at 1 a.m. EDT showed that 115 persons had died in auto accidents since the start of the holiday period.

Armed, masked men rob plant, employes

EL SEGUNDO (UPI) — Eleven masked men, armed with two pistols and a submachine gun, robbed a manufacturing plant of 9,400 pounds of copper wiring worth $12,000 and then took $550 from six employes.

Police said the machinists at the Prestolite Wire and Cable Co. were bound, gagged and herded into a back room by three men Wednesday while eight other men loaded the wiring into a truck.

Severe earthquake

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — A severe earthquake jarred a remote section of the Soviet Union near the border of China and Western Mongolia Thursday, according to the University of California Seismographic station.

18 injured as winds, rain batter Maine

BRIDGTON, Maine (UPI) — High winds and rain packing "the force of a tornado" swept across southern Maine Thursday, injuring at least 18 persons as it toppled trees and tore down power lines in a four-county area.

The state Civil Defense Office said many of the injured were vacationing at summer homes and campgrounds in the popular Sebago Lake area, 10 miles southeast of here.

"It's lucky more people weren't injured," Bridgton Town Manager Ervin Linscott said. "They're usually anywhere from 500 to 800 people in those camping areas."

He said the wind and rain was "more like a severe thunderstorm than a twister, but it had all the force of a tornado." The storm downed trees which blocked dozens of roads.

Four of the injured were listed in serious condition and under intensive care at hospitals in Bridgton and Portland.

In Raymond, Maine, Michael Davison was knocked unconscious when lightning struck the barn where he and one of his children took cover when the storm hit.

"My legs are still a little numb," Davison said several hours later.

The wind ripped down power lines in Bridgton and three other communities in Cumberland and neighboring Oxford counties, temporarily knocking out electricity and telephone service to hundreds of homes. Scattered property damage also was reported in Lincoln and Androsgoggin counties.

State Civil Defense Director Timothy Wilson, after touring the area Thursday night, issued a statement to reassure parents that none of the children attending summer camps in the region had been injured. He urged tourists to stay out of the area until roads could be cleared and power lines repaired.

Holiday keeps area firemen, police busy

Hot weather, parades, picnics, fireworks displays and family gatherings made for a bang-up Fourth of July celebration enjoyed by almost everyone throughout the valley Thursday except firemen and traffic officers-many of whom had a hectic day.

Youngsters playing with fireworks were blamed for small grass fires in communities throughout the valley and for fires that destroyed a garage at a vacant house at 1518 W. Grand Ave., Pomona, and a carport in Montclair at 10342 Ramona Ave. A three-acre brush fire in the Ganesha Hills had firemen worried for a time because of nearby homes.

Two Pomona firemen were injured fighting the Ganesha Hills fire that apparently started from fireworks about noon at Crest Way off of Val Vista. Four engine companies worked several hours containing the fire, which burned up a steep and rocky hillside. Firemen Jim Fields was treated at Pomona Valley Community Hospital for a back injury and Capt. Bob Woods was treated for a cut wrist. Both were later released.

As for the traffic officer's day, 13 people were injured in eight accidents Wednesday evening and Thursday in Pomona, San Dimas, Claremont and Montclair and on Mt. Baldy Road. (See stories on A-2).

And the combination of hot weather and free admission at Bonelli Swim Park on the holiday sent an estimated 21,000 people to the recreation area Thursday, causing sheriff's officers to close swimming and fishing areas of the park during portions of the day.

Officials at Bonelli Park said people started arriving at the North Shore fishing area at 6 a.m. and at the swim park at 7 a.m.

The boat launch area of the North Shore of the park opened at 6 a.m., but the swim park didn't open until 9:30. The swim park had filled to its 5,500-person capacity by 11 a.m. and was closed to the public until 4 p.m., when some families started leaving the park.

Officials at the North Shore estimated that 16,000 people visited the park during the day. This area of the park was also filled by 11 a.m. to everyone but boat users.

Sheriff's deputies stopped traffic into the park after 11 a.m. at San Dimas Avenue and Puddingstone Drive, Walnut Avenue and Puddingstone Drive; and Walnut Avenue and Arrow Highway. When parking overflowed at the recreation areas Thursday, people parked outside the park, whereever they could find an empty space along the roadway near the park. Officials said 50 citations were given to cars parked in posted areas on roads close to the park.

The county fire dispatcher discribed the holiday as a "hectic" one for firemen, where the station received 160 emergency calls Thursday when the normal amount is 60.

But some valley fire departments said they had few serious problems with fireworks. These included the City of La Verne, where the fire chief invited youngsters to set off safe and sane fireworks in the city parks.

Chief Bob Lapp said large numbers of children set off devices in Kuns, Las Flores, and College Park without any problems Thursday evening.

But in Pomona where fireworks are illegal, firemen put out a brush fire at Ganesha Hills, a few small grass fires and a fire that destroyed a garage — all started by fireworks.

The garage fire at 1518 Grand Ave., caused about $1,000 damage. Neighbors said they saw children playing with fireworks near the garage shortly before the fire started.

In Montclair, children playing illegally with firecrackers also were believed to have caused a fire that destroyed a carport at the Appollo Arms Apartments at 10342 Ramona Ave., at 6:30 p.m. causing an estimated $1,500 damage.

ELEPHANTINE TASK

Pennie, a 6,000-pound elephant at the San Francisco Zoo, displays the technique she uses to take a dust bath in the pachyderm pen. Using her trunk, she sniffs up dirt from the yard, then blow it all over herself. Keepers says elephants in the wild and in zoos stay happy with frequent dust baths.

Tempers flare at hearing

POMONA — Two young Montclair men were ordered to answer manslaughter charges in Pomona Superior Court as the result of their preliminary hearing during which a reluctant witness was arrested and a teen-age girl and her mother cited for contempt of court.

The action occurred in Pomona Municipal Court where Bruce Alan Banker, 18, and Terry M. Chambers, 19, appeared before Judge Robert C. Gustaveson. At the close of the session late Wednesday afternoon, Gustaveson bound the pair over and scheduled their arraignment for July 17.

During Wednesday's hearing, the judge cited 17-year-old Melissa M. Dawson, 9778 Columbine St., Montclair and her mother, Nancy, for contempt. Attaches said that when the prosecution described Melissa as a hostile witness who probably was lying. Mrs. Dawson jumped up, shouted something at the court and stomped out. Then Melissa leaped up, shouted she hadn't been lying and also left. They were returned and cited by Gustaveson who set their hearing for July 10.

Earlier this week Richard Ryan Rademacher, another 18-year-old Montclair resident, was arrested on the same manslaughter charge when he declined to testify on constitutional grounds. But he was granted immunity, testified the next day and no charges were filed.

The victim in the case was Edith Elser Harrison, 82-year-old Claremont woman. She was killed when her car and Banker's collided in Claremont Boulevard at Ninth Street in Claremont June 1.

Miss Dawson was a passenger in Banker's car and Rademacher was riding with Chambers. Police charged the cars were racing when the accident occurred.

Authorities said that when Miss Dawson was called as a prosecution witness she said she had no recollection of the accident or events leading to it.

Nostalgia buffs having a ball at N.Y. hotel

NEW YORK (UPI) — Hundreds of collectors and nostalgia buffs from as far away as England and India have invaded New York to buy, trade, or sell —or just plain show off —old comics, posters or bubblegum cards.

They turned the grand ballroom of the Hotel Commodore into a huge marketplace Thursday as the 1974 New York Comic Art Convention opened.

One of the biggest attractions at the affair was a beat-up old copy of the comic book "Action No. 1," in which Superman appeared for the first time in June 1938.

Its owner, Montreal dealer Bob Crestohl, says he spent two years tracking down the coveted volume and paid a trifling $1,500 for the treasure. Now, he claims, it's worth at least $5,000, but he adds it's not for sale.

However, Crestohl is willing to part with such rarities as "Detective Comics No. 27," May, 1939, for about $2,500, or the first edition of "Batman," for about $1,500.

The convention, which will run through Monday, includes displays of posters, old movies, knicknacks, novelties, and panel discussions.

An initial tour of the exhibit room unearthed such exotic items as recordings of old "Burns and Allen" and "The Shadow" radio shows, several film sequences from the "Amos and Andy" series, and (Great Glue!) two bottles of Hopalong Cassidy hair tonic.

On stairways, corridors and elevators, enthusiasts read and reread their latest acquisitions.

2 drivers, passenger held after accidents

SAN DIMAS — One motorist was charged with attempting to run down a man on a church parking lot and another driver and his passenger were arrested after their car overturned here late Wednesday.

Gilbert J. Grijalva, 56, Azusa, told sheriff's deputies that he saw a motorist crashing into tables, bike racks and a wheeled-trash container shortly after 4 p.m. at Holy Name of Mary Catholic Church, 124 San Dimas Canyon Road. He said that when he began writing down the license number the driver tried to run over him, missing him by only two feet, before speeding away.

A few minutes later deputies arrested Miguel Beladez Tovar, 21, 1879 First St., La Verne, on suspicion of the assault on Grijalva. They said he lost control of his car at Via Los Santos and Via Palomares and hit a building after leaving the church parking lot.

A few minutes later driver Jose Castro Jr., 24, Huntington Park, and his passenger, Anthony Ramirez, 18, of 1015 Tylene Place, Pomona, were arrested after their car overturned at Arrow Highway and Bonita Avenue.

Irene Grant, 24, of 1158 San Bernardino Ave., Pomona, said her car was hit from behind by Castro's as she was driving. Castro's car then hit the center divider and knocked over a traffic signal before overturning.

Both he and Ramiez were treated for minor injuries at San Dimas Community Hospital and released to deputies. Castro was booked on suspicion of felonious drunken driving and Ramiez on an intoxication charge. Deputies said the pair was alternately chasing and being chased by four men in a car.

Bad humor truck leads police on wild chase

WYANDANCH, N.Y. (UPI) — An ice cream truck driven by a young man who apparently was not in good humor led four police cars and 12 fire trucks on a wild chase through this New York suburb Thursday night that ended up with five persons, including two policemen, injured.

Suffolk County Police said the chase ended only after the ice cream truck crashed through three roadblocks and rammed at least four fire trucks and one automobile.

Police said the incident began when John P. Wen, 22, threatened a girl with a wrench.

John Miller, an off-duty Suffolk County cop and also an assistant chief of the Wyandanch Fire Department, walked over and the suspect wheeled on him and slammed the wrench against his shoulder, police said.

Wen then ran to a nearby ice cream truck driven by Victor Bartolotla, 22, and both sped off.

Miller jumped into his fire vehicle and chased them, radioing Suffolk County police and the Wyandanch, North Lyndenhurst, and West Babylon Fire Departments for assistance.

During the chase, the ice cream truck slammed into an auto, throwing a passenger from the car and injuring him, past three roadblocks and evading the police cruisers and fire trucks until it was cornered 30 minutes later.

Wen jumped out and cracked Allan Goetz, also an off-duty Suffolk County officer, over the head with the wrench, police said.

His companion then apparently joined him in what the spokesman called a "general free-for-all." in which a fireman and another person were injured, before the pair was subdued.

Both were charged with assault and Bartolotla was charged with multiple traffic violations, police said.

All of the injured were taken to the hospital for treament, where the fireman was admitted.

Crashes injure two persons at Mt. Baldy

MT. BALDY — Two persons were injured here Wednesday and Thursday in traffic accidents.

Alvis Ford Davis Jr., 26, of 1045 S. Towne Ave., Pomona, suffered a fractured leg Thursday night when his motorcycle ran off Shinn Road east of Mt. Baldy Road.

He was admitted to San Antonio Community Hospital in Upland where his condition today is termed good.

Davis was driving west on Shinn Road about 50 miles per hour when he lost control on a curve, said highway patrolmen, and the cycle ran off the roadway.

In a Wednesday accident, Martin Burnett, 19, of 966 W. Bonnie Brae Court, Ontario, was driving his car north on Mt. Baldy Road when it went into a skid and struck a tunnel abutment, said officers.

A passenger, Sally Strickland, 19, of 945 E. Fifth St., Ontario, was treated at San Antonio Community Hospital and later released.

Hopewell was booked on suspicion of felonious drunken driving after treatment at County-USC Medical Center.

Area firemen busy . . .

Two engine companies and a truck company responded to the blaze and firemen managed to contain it within 15 minutes. The carport, according to fire officials, was not attached to the apartments. The fire sent billows of heavy black smoke into the air that could be seen several miles away.

The fire destroyed approximately eight parking stalls, but no cars were damaged. Firemen said that three cars in an adjacent carport were moved without damage.

Several witnesses told firemen that just a few minutes before the fire broke out a number of firecrackers were being set off by children in the carport area.

About 300 people attended the pancake breakfast in La Verne and many stayed for a parade that followed. A fireworks display was featured later in the evening at Bonita High School.

The annual Fourth of July parade in Claremont was livened up Thursday by two young girls who suddenly shed their clothes and streaked nude through the parade route. Both eluded capture by police. The incident received applause from the parade audience.

Ontario staged its annual All States Picnic and Parade and a fireworks display was held at Ontario Parkway later in the evening.

Ontario fire officials reported they confiscated a quantity of fireworks of the "safe and sane" variety from a number of adult and children in the city during the night. About a sack full of regular firecrackers were also confiscated by fire officers patrolling the neighborhoods. Fire officials said that no city ordinance violations were written.

Chino police reported this morning that two juviles were arrested at Fourth and D Streets about midnight after they allegedly were caught throwing firecrackers at passing vehicles. The youths, according to police will be petitioned to juvenile hall for disposition on the charges of throwing an inflammable or explosive object at a moving vehicle. The youths were 15 and 16.

Nader questions plan for cattle producers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Consumer advocate Ralph Nader says the Federal Reserve System is urging bankers to extend credit to hard-pressed cattle producers, and he wants to know more about it.

Nader wrote Federal Reserve Chairman Arthur F. Burns asking just what concrete steps he was proposing.

Nader cited a June 13 letter by Burns to the heads of Federal Reserve Banks in Chicago, St. Louis, Kansas City and Dallas, urging that bankers make as much credit as possible available to cattle feeders who have been losing money for months.

Burns noted in the letter that banks should not be urged to make loans involving "undue risks."

He went on to say: "...it is also possible that some country banks may be reluctant to make adequate funds available locally because of the very high return that can be obtained by them on money-market instruments, including loans to city banks in the federal funds market."

Burns said normally money should be allowed to seek maximum returns. But he added bankers should realize that in the long run, they may profit most by assuring continued availability of credit in their local markets even if interest rates temporarily are lower than they can earn elsewhere.

"Taking due account of relative credit risks, the first obligation of bankers is to the credit requirements of their service area," Burns added, urging the Federal Reserve officials to remind local bankers of that obligation "whenever the opportunity presents itself."

Nader asked Burns to "spell out what concrete steps the Federal Reserve is taking to implement the suggestion (and its objectives) in your letter."

He asked Burns to comment on whether the objective of a pending bill for government guarantees on cattle loans could be met more effectively by Federal Reserve actions.

The consumer activist also asked Burns for access to files of correspondence between his office, the Federal Reserve District Banks, and member banks of the Federal Reserve System during the past year.

Trio arrested in ski lift fracas

MT. BALDY —Three men were arrested on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon at the bottom of the Mt. Baldy Ski Lift by West End sheriff's deputies early this morning when the lift proved to be too slow as an escape vehicle.

Glen Joseph Schwingl, 20, of La Puente, Michael Patrick Sweeny, 22, of Valinda, and David Lynn Kepfurd, 22, of La Puente were booked in the West End Jail this morning awaiting arraigment on the charges.

Deputies said the trio began throwing firecrackers on the floor inside the Notch Restaurant above the lift and were told to leave by the restaurant manager, William Lewsadder.

Lewsadder told deputies that the three men suddenly attacked him with their hands, a chair and a beer glass. Two other patrons in the restaurant bar came to Lewsadder's aid. Before the fight was over Lewsadder suffered a broken and lacerated nose, and the other two men minor lacerations.

Deputies said the three assailants ran from the bar and got into the ski chairs going down the mountain. Lewsadder said he slowed the cable down and called the sheriff's department. When the three suspects finally reached the bottom of the lift several sheriff's deputies and a number of highway patrolmen were waiting to put them under arrest.

One of the suspects tried to go back up the ski lift but was stopped, deputies said.

BANGKOK RIOTING

The bloody body of a man, one of three people killed in Bangkok rioting Thursday, lies in the street after the shooting. The rioting was touched off when an unruly crowd, angered by the arrest of a taxi driver, attacked a police station. Police responded with gunfire, killing three in the crowd.

13 killed, 100 injured

Rioting forces Thailand into state of emergency

BANGKOK (UPI) — Isolated gunfire broke out Friday in Bangkok where two nights of riots forced the Thai government to proclaim a state of emergency and summon troops and tanks into the streets.

At least 13 people were killed and more than 100 injured in the all-night rioting Wednesday and Thursday, according to a survey of hospitals in the absence of official figures, with at least 50 people reported under arrest.

Twelve of the dead were civilians; the 13th was a policeman.

Some Bangkok newspapers reported the death toll as high as 22, but that figure could not be confirmed.

Authorities said two men who were helping pick up the dead and injured were wounded by gunfire near a police station in the capital's Chinatown at sundown today following a day of peace and cleaning up of littered streets.

Minutes later somebody threw a firebomb nearby and paramilitary troops began appearing in the streets. Police cars roamed the area telling people to go home. Streets were cordoned off.

Police were using barbed wire and burned-out cars and buses to set up roadblocks in the Chinese section of the city where the rioting has been contained.

Prime Minister Sanya Dharmasakti called an urgent cabinet meeting on how to deal with the rioting.

Tanks called out to protect government buildings rumbled back to their barracks this morning, leaving the streets empty of armored vehicles two hours after sunrise.

In the area around the Plabplachai police station, scene of the heaviest fighting, border police patrols pulled out and normal traffic for the Buddhist Lent holiday flowed throught the streets.

Burned out hulks of buses and cars commandeered by the rioters littered streets around the station. Chinese shopkeepers, however, opened stores as usual in the midst of the piles of debris and smashed traffic lights.

Lt. Gen. Narong Mahonond, the metropolitan police chief, said most of the fighting ended before dawn today, but he said there was still some sporadic sniping.

The state of emergency officially remained in force this morning and police stayed on alert after dispersing rioters who had roamed the area during the night.

Narong reported one policeman dead and five rioters killed in Thursday night's clashes. Other sources placed the toll in the Plabplachai station fighting at a minimum of 11 dead.

Narong blamed the rioting on teenage hoodlums who had attended a mass rally in a downtown park Thursday night. The rally was organized by university students protesting American military presence in the country.

Suspension of guerrilla activities asked

Lebanon rejects troops

By United Press International

Lebanon has rejected immediate offers of troops and weapons from other Arab countries to defend Palestinian refugee camps on its territory from Israeli reprisal raids, Beirut press reports said today.

The reports said the Beirut government warned Arab states at a two-day conference in Cairo that Israel was waiting for a pretext to occupy parts of southern Lebanon.

Conference sources said today the delegates adopted secret resolutions calling for military, political and financial support to Lebanon, but rejected sending Arab troops or warplanes —as Egypt, Syria and Algeria proposed.

The Beirut newspaper Al Anwar said Lebanese Foreign Minister Fuad Naffah also called at the meeting for a suspension of all guerrilla activities pending the outcome of the Middle East peace conference, expected to reconvene in October.

The leader of the Syrian-backed Al Saiqa guerrilla organization, Zuheir Mohsen, who was a Palestine Liberation Organization delegate at the Cairo conference, criticized the Lebanese rejection.

"The conference of Arab defense and foreign ministers has failed because the party for whose sake the meeting was convened (Lebanon) did not want assistance," he told the newspaper Al Liwa.

He said Lebanon "even objected to granting the (Palestinian) resistance movement assistance for building shelters, considering this to be a Lebanese privilege."

Israel launched retaliatory air attacks on Palestinian refugee camp in neighboring Lebanon after Arab terrorist attacks May 15 at Maalot in western Galilee and June 13 at the northern settlement of Shamir.

The Maalot raid left 31 persons dead, most of them school children. Three women were killed in the Shamir attack. The Israeli air strikes killed more than 80 persons and wounded over 200.

Palestinian commandos killed four persons June 25 in a raid on the coastal resort of Nahariyya, but Israel has yet to retaliate.

The defense and foreign affairs committee of the Israeli Kenesset (parliament) met Thursday in Jerusalem to review a guerrilla strategy study ordered after the Maalot attack.

The Israeli national radio said a cabinet meeting today would deal with the guerrilla problem and also consider the U.S.-Soviet communique issued at the end of President Nixon's Moscow visit.

The communique said the interests of the Palestinian people must be protected in any Middle East peace settlement.

Arab League Secretary General Mahmoud Riad told newsmen in Cairo the defense conference considered the Israeli attacks an "attempt to obstruct the current efforts aimed at the realization of a just and durable peace in the region."

Kissinger arrives in Rome after visit with French

ROME (UPI) — Secretary of State Henry Kissinger arrived in Rome today under a brilliant summer sun and heavy security on his tour to brief European leaders about the Moscow summit meeting.

National police with submachine guns stood on the roof of Ciampino airport as Kissinger's Boeing 707 jetliner arrived at 1:33 p.m. (7:33 a.m. EDT) from Paris.

Italian Foreign Minister Aldo Moro, U.S. Ambassador John Volpe and representative to the Vatican Henry Cabot Lodge met Kissinger at planeside.

All concerned smiled, shook hands and drove to the Quirinale palace for lunch with President Giovanni Leone. Police helicopters flew over the motorcade.

During his 22-hour stay, Kissinger will also meet with Pope Paul VI to talk about the Moscow summit and also about the status of Jerusalem, an American official said.

In Paris, Kissinger and French President Valery Giscard d'Estaing conferred on the results of the Soviet-American summit and Europe's rocky relations with the United States.

The secretary of state emerged from the Elysee Palace after a one hour, 23 minute talk with the newly elected French president, conferring over a breakfast of grapefruit and coffee in the palace garden.

Indicating that once cool Franco-American relations were warming up, Kissinger told newsmen his talk with Giscard d'Estaing was "friendly and constructive."

At the airport Kissinger emphasized "the warm reception the French government gave me."

Before the talks, French government officials said Giscard d'Estaing would mention European alarm at the Sovie-American communique calling for a speedy conclusion to the European Security Conference and a jumbo summit meeting to sign it.

Ehrlichman's secret testimony cited to jury

WASHINGTON (UPI) — John D. Ehrlichman's previously secret testimony that he learned about a psychiatric profile of Pentagon Papers defendant Daniel Ellsberg only after a break-in at Ellsberg's psychiatrist's office was presented to a federal court jury today.

In the testimony, given to a grand jury May 14, 1973, two weeks after he resigned as President Nixon's top domestic adviser, Ehrlichman said:

"Well, I learned after the break-in that they were looking for information for what they call a psychological profile."

Ehrlichman is charged with lying to the grand jury in making that statement, as well as conspiracy in the break-in at the office of Dr. Lewis J. Fielding, who was Ellsberg's psychiatrist. He and three others are on trial in U.S. District Court.

The prosecution also read Ehrlichman's grand jury testimony for Sept. 13, 1973, in which Ehrlichman changed his testimony and said he saw the psychiatric profile before the break-in. In the testimony, Ehrlichman said his memory was refreshed by an appearance before the House committee charged with overviewing the Central Intelligence Agency and by seeing the White House blueprint for the break-in. The prosecution has presented much testimony in the trial about memos speaking of a psychological profile before the breakin—memos that were addresssed to Ehrlichman—and of meetings among Ehrlichman and other members of White House "Plumbers" unit at which the profile was discussed.

Before the grand jury testimony was read, Ehrlichman's lawyer said he would drop a request to subpoena White House chief of staff Alexander M. Hi to testify, and attorneys for Henry A. Kissinger said the secretary of State knew nothing about the burglary and asked that his subpoena be quashed.

Unemployment figures hold fast in June

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The nation's rate of unemployment held steady at 5.2 per cent in June—the same as May—but another 400,000 Americans found employment, the government said today.

The jobless rate was 5.0 per cent in April and has been steadily around that level since January.

Despite the usual influx into the labor market of students looking for summer jobs, the number of outwork Americans totaled 4.8 million in June, virtually the same number as in May, the Bureau of Labor Statistics said.

Employment, on the other hand, edged up slightly last month to 86.2 million. The number of Americans holding jobs has now increased 400,000 in the past two months after six months of virtually no change.

As usual, unemployment was highest among teen-agers, but the 15.6 per cent jobless rate for this age group was the same as in May, the BLS said.

The job figures are adjusted for seasonal variation, including the annual surge of young job-seekers following the close of the school year.

The teen-age increase this June was about the same as in recent years, and thus had virtually no effect on the overall jobless rate.

The stability in the unemployment picture in June carried over into other labor force groups. The jobless rate for household heads, 3.1 per cent; adult men, 3.5 per cent; and adult women, 5.1 per cent, were nearly the same as in May.

However, the rate for married men rebounded to 2.6 per cent last month after the temporary slide to 2.2 per cent one month earlier.

About 8.8 per cent of black workers were without jobs in June, compared with 4.8 per cent for their white counterparts, but these figures were unchanged from May, the BLS said.

Young Vietnam-era veterans, those 20 to 24 years of age, continued to have a tougher time finding work than those of the same age who did not serve in the military. The jobless rate for young veterans was 10.1 per cent in June, about the same as in the previous five months, while nonveterans of the same age were out of work at a 7.5 per cent rate.

Older veterans, however, experienced about the same unemployment problems as nonveterans of the same age group, above 25, according to the BLS.

On the wage side, average hourly earnings of blue-collar workers rose 0.7 per cent in June, seasonally adjusted, and are now 7.8 per cent above a year ago. In money terms, hourly pay rose 3 cents last month to $4.17, 30 cents above June, 1973.

Weekly earnings for blue-collar workers averaged $154.71 last month, up $3.19 from May and $9.97 from a year ago.

The average work week held steady at 36.8 hours, the BLS said.

Group stages protest against N.C. death law

RALEIGH, N.C. (UPI) — Labeling North Carolina the "capital of racist repression," a new group called the National Alliance Against Racist and Political Repression drew a crowd of several thousand for a July 4th rally it hopes will rekindle the civil rights activism of the 1960s.

Black activist Angela Davis, one of the organizers, proclaimed the rally a success and said it was "only the starting point" for large-scale protest marches around the country. But she said there was no set schedule for more protests as yet.

"I am very, very satisfied and extremely enthusiastic about what we are witnessing here," Miss Davis said. "We are attempting to fulfill the legacy that was left by that movement" of 1960s protests.

The rally drew a crowd estimated by Miss Davis and other organizers at 10,000, although police said there were only about 4,000 and newsmen put the figure at about 5,000.

It also drew a handful of pickets from white segregationist groups, including the Rights of White People, the American Nazi party and the Ku Klux Klan.

But despite worries about violence that prompted Gov. James E. Holshouser Jr. to place 1,000 National Guardsmen and 300 state troopers on alert, no arrests or incidents were reported.

A few protestors jeered and taunted the robed Klansmen and brown-shirted Nazi party members wearing swastikas. The two small groups of white militants totaled no more than 30 persons.

Others stood beside the pickets to have their pictures taken with the Klansmen until a squad of 25 helmeted policemen posted themselves between the protestors and the pickets.

Organizers of the protest said it was dedicated to the memory of Mrs. Martin Luther King Sr., who was slain in Atlanta Sunday.

Specifically, the rally was protesting North Carolina's capital punishment statute which has put 45 persons on death row at Central Prison here —more than any other state in the country —and the incarceration of "political prisoners" in the state.

But the 20 or so speakers who talked to the group in the daylong series of rallies and marches under a blistering sun, also ranged over dozens of other injustices they said were perpetuated on the country's minorities, including calls for Puerto Rico's independence and more rights and government aid for Indians.

BIRTH OF A NEW PROTEST GROUP

Portion of a crowd estimated at 5,000 march down Fayetteville Street in Raleigh, N.C., in a protest against the death penalty sponsored by the National Alliance Against Racist and Political Repression. There were no arrests.

Evel Knieval couldn't match this 'stuntman'

DES MOINES, Iowa (UPI) — Raymond England of Worthington, Minn., is alive today, and a state trooper says he doesn't think even stuntman Evel Knievel could match him.

England, 19, survived an accident that was described at various times by state trooper Mark Morrison of Cherokee as "spectacular," "incredible," "amazing" and "unbelievable."

The accident occurred early Thursday when England's car ran off U.S. 75 on the north edge of Merrill in Plymouth County. His car came to rest in the middle of a street 750 feet away after twice flying through the air and crashing through a billboard.

Morrison said the car left the highway just before entering the town, skidded along the ground and then flew through the air for about 150 feet before crashing through the sign about 15 feet off the ground.

The car remained airborne for another 100 feet after hitting the sign, Morrison said, touched the ground for another 25 to 50 feet and then was airborne again for another 100 feet or so. England's car finally came to rest, on its wheels, in the middle of Jackson Street in Merrill, some 750 feet from where it first left the road.

England suffered only minor cuts and was hospitalized for observation but was released early Thursday.

"When I left the hospital at 5 o'clock this morning he was doing pushups," Morrison said. "He was getting ready to leave."

"I told my wife it was the most fantastic thing I've ever seen," Morrison said. "You remember the train wreck in the movie about the Ringling Brothers Circus? That was pretty spectacular but this tops that. Evel Knievel wouldn't do what happened to this guy."

His election came on the second presidential ballot cast by the almost 700 delegates attending the church's July 3-10 biennial convention.

Left-wing group threatens war in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — A left-wing militant group threatened today to take up arms in the first sign of possible turmoil in divided Argentina following an emotional state funeral for Juan Domingo Peron.

The Montoneros, a former guerrilla group that put away its weapons after Peron returned from exile, said it would resume urban warfare unless the "power vacuum" left by the president's death was filled.

The threat came hours after Lt. Gen. Leandro Anaya, the army commander, swore by the "body and immortal soul" of Peron to support the late leader's widow, Maria Estela, Latin America's first woman president.

Del E. Webb, dies of cancer

ROCHESTER, Minn. (UPI) — Del E. Webb, who parlayed a cement mixer, 10 pick axes and 20 shovels into a multi-million-dollar construction and resort hotel empire with a baseball team to boot, died Thursday of cancer.

Webb, 75, board chairman of the Phoenix, Ariz.-based Del E. Webb Corp., and former co-owner of the New York Yankees during their golden years, succumbed at Methodist Hospital.

He was co-owner of the New York Yankees with the late Dan Topping from 1945 to 1965, the years of Joe DiMaggio, Mickey Mantle and Yogi Bera.

As a youth, Webb went to work for a small contractor as a door-hanger. His employer later skipped town and Webb took over his debts and meager assets, which included a cement mixer, 10 wheelbarrows, 20 shovels and 10 pick axes.

By 1933, Webb had turned the concern into a $3 million operation.

Some of his better-known properties and interests are the Sahara and Mint hotel-casinos in Las Vegas, the Sahara Tahoe in Lake Tahoe, the Town House and Mountain Shadows hotels in Scottsdale, Ariz., the Hawaii Kuilima Hotel in Oahu, the Newporter Inn in Newport Beach, and Sun City.

Stamp collecting

Many opportunities for finding stamps

By HUBBARD KEAVY and ERNIE BENNETT
PART IV

(EDITOR'S NOTE: How do you start a stamp collection? The answer to that semmingly simple question is multifaceted. Besides, there are nearly 200,000 varieties of stamps, and no one could possibly collect them all. Many books have been written on the subject, but too often they are technical and the would-be collector is discouraged before he really gets started.

How to Start Collecting Stamps is a 10-part series directed at helping the beginner join the millions who now enjoy stamp collecting.

This fourth part gives several sources for acquiring stamps.)

The opportunites for finding stamps are numerous. Start close at home. Ask friends to save intersting stamps for you. Many good stamps from foreign countries are thrown away because of lack of interest.

If you can locate a foreigner with whom you can correspond, you have a valuable source. Pen pal clubs reach many interesting countries.

Of course you wil have stamps from envelopes, but these must be removed carefully. Immerse the envelope in warm water for about 10 minutes and the stamp should separate easily. Place the wet stamps on blotters or paper towels to dry. Do not use heat, since the stamps tend to curl and heat will harden them in that position.

It is likely you will have to buy some of your stamps from a dealer. If there is a dealer in your vicinity you can look at many stamps before making your selection.

Mail order dealers provide a similar service with their "approvals," which are unually sent monthly. They may ask for your preference as to country or specialty to be better able to serve you. Approvals should be returned or paid for as promptly as possible.

A national stamp publication such as Linn's Weekly Stamp News (Sidney, Ohio, 45365) wil provide enough stamp advertisements to boggle the mind. These include pages of auction-by-mail, for those with specific needs.

Such magazines will keep you informed of new developments in the area of stamps, an important consideration for the eager philatelist.

Be sure to buy all United States stamps as soon as they become available. Watch for good "centering," which means even borders around the printed part.

It is a good practice to save extra copies of each stamp for possible trading. This is especially so if you happen to locate a foreign collector with whom you can exchange.

Should you purchase the portion of a stamp sheet that includes the "plate block," put it aside carefully since you may some day decide to collect plate blocks.

A plate block is composed of the four stamps in the corner next to a sheet number in the margin. Some of the more colorful stamps may have as many as six numbers in the margin. You must save all the numbers intact — two stamps wide. Such large plate blocks can double and triple in value in a year or two.

Plate blocks or single commemoratives (the larger stamps) deserve an album by themselves because of their attractive appearance.

We have been speaking of unused, or "mint" stamps. Some parts of many collections are used stamps. Their value is less in most cases, although a used stamp from a very small country or some tiny island, such as Pitcairn or St. Helena, can be worth even more than a mint stamp.

A used stamp becomes less desirable if the cancellation is heavy or covers the main part of the design. But don't throw them away. They will be of use to someone.

Do be careful in the handling of all stamps. Carelessness can damage perforations or the face of the stamp itself.

(If you'd like a reprint of the complete series for future reference, send 50c and a long self-addressed stamped envelope to STAMPS, P.O. Box 2218, Mission, Kansas 662020.)

PART V: Collector's Choice

Fined $25 for cursing dog

MONTGOMERY, Alabama (UPI) — Dexter Jernigan has been fined $25 for cursing a stray dog.

Jernigan told a municipal court hearing that his neighborhood is full of dogs and the neighbors won't keep them penned.

"You can't even go out in the yard without stepping in something," Jernigan said.

Jernigan's neighbor, Flora Stroud, said she went to pick up a puppy outside Jernigan's door and that Jernigan "came out raising cain about the dogs, cussing."

"I probably did," said Jernigan.

He paid the fine.

Easy to see contract key

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Anyone can see that three notrump is the right contract. Almost anyone can get there on the simple bidding sequence of one notrump—three notrump.

It is equally easy to see that South can make four notrump by playing East for both the king and jack of clubs and leading through him a couple of times.

It should be almost as easy to see that a good player would only make nine tricks. He would win the third spade lead and note that he would be sure of his contract unless West held the king of clubs. He would study a little further and see that he could also make it if West held the singleton king.

Then he would lay down his ace of clubs and continue with the 10 spot. He would have to lose tricks to both the king and jack of clubs, but he would wind up with two club tricks.

Since he was sure of one spade, two hearts and four diamonds those two club tricks would be enough for his contract.

Safety group orders rules on bike sales

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Ranking bicycles as the No. 1 product hazard with more than 1 million injuries a year, the U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission has ordered mandatory safety regulations for bikes sold in interstate commerce on or after Jan. 1, 1975.

"Bicycles rank number one on the Commission's product hazard index," it said. "Injury experts state that over 1 million children and adults are injured each year in bike related accidents. The commission estimates that in 1973, 419,000 persons sought hospital emergency room treatment for injuries associated with bicycles."

If anything, the bike craze for recreational, health and fuel conserving reasons, has intensified and the commission is taking steps now on the assumption the trend will continuue.

It said thousands of injuries are attributed each year to mechanical and structural problems.

"Analysis of injuries in commission files indicate that about 17 per cent are directly attributable to mechanical and structural failures, including brake defects, wheel disengagement, steering, shifting and chain problems," the report said. "Sixty three per cent are related to loss of control and 10 per cent to entanglement of body parts in bike components."

The commission said that in a Federal Register notice to be published July 16, it is proposing a two-year labeling requirement for all bicycles that comply with new safety and structural regulations.

Bicycle regulations issued under authority of the Federal Harzardous Substances Act are directed "toward eliminating and reducing the severity of thousands of injuries attributed each year to mechanical and structural problems. The bicycle frame, steering system, wheels and brakes will have to meet requirements and tests for safe construction, effectiveness, strength and performance."

Other provisions require protected edges on metal fenders and coverings for protruding bolts, chain guards for bikes that are not freewheeling, locking devices to secure wheel hubs to the bicycle frame, handelbar, seat and stem clamps and adequate instructions for assembly and maintenance.

Also ordered were wide angle reflectors on front and rear of the bicycle and on the front and rear surfaces of pedals to immprove night visibility. Manufacturers will have the alternative of supplying reflectorized tires or wide angle reflectors mounted on the wheel spokes.

Many bike injuries, the commission added, are the result of the interaction between the rider, the bicycle and the environment. The commission is starting a nationwide bicycle education program to begin this fall to encourage rider education and the proper maintenance and use of bicycles.

Escaped jag caught going under house

MANGUM, Okla. (UPI) — Geronimo, an escaped jaguar that roamed Southwestern Oklahoma for five days but could never become accustomed to freedom, was captured recently as he attempted to crawl under an abandoned house.

The 4-year-old cat was spotted going under the house and was shot with a tranquilizer gun. Firemen sprayed water under the house, forcing the animal into a cage which had been placed at one of the openings.

Ruby Foster, who owns the cat, said it weighed 225 pounds when it escaped, and had lost a considerable amount of weight.

She purchased Geronimo for her wild animal breeding farm west of Mangum.

It escaped a week after she bought it from an Arkansas zoo by ripping a hole in a heavy wire cage.

Almanac

Robyn Smith was the first female jockey to win the stakes at Aqueduct Racetrack when she outdistanced the male jockeys on opening day March 1, 1973. In Spain on April 13, 1973, a 25-year-old woman named Angelita won the right to be a bullfighter, the World Almanac says. A policeman's daughter, she said her victory in a Madrid labor court was "a triumph for women's rights in general."

ACTION LINE

To ask help in solving problems with which you have been unsuccessful, write to Action Line, The Progress-Bulletin, P. O. Box 2708, Pomona, Calif. 91766. The road to vacation in Mexico can be bumpy one

I'm going to take a trip to La Paz this summer. I will be using the new road that was built about a year ago.

Before I leave on my vacation I would like to find out how much gasoline is per gallon down there.

I would appreciate any other information you could give me.—D.A., Pomona.

The Automobile Club of Southern California says that gasoline costs vary along the highway to La Paz. Average cost, based on the octane rating required by an average American car, is estimated at 68 cents per gallon.

Mexico Highway 1, the road to La Paz, is generally well maintained, though narrower than we are used to in this country.

Highways are crowned and rest on a raised roadbed. Unless you watch your steering, there will be a trend to drift to the right. Liberals among our readers will see a political parallel.

Safe speeds are less than in the United States. Night driving is not recommended but if it must be done speeds ought to be drastically reduced.

Problems which arise at night are due to sparse signing, construction work and cattle gathering on the road.

Your vehicle should be in top mechanical condition before you drive to La Paz, according to the Automobile Club.

Facilities for major repair or parts replacement are not available between Ensenada and La Paz. Even in those cities, you may have to wait for repairs.

Until more gas stations are built, it is a good idea to top off your gas tank if the gauge reads half-full or less.

If you happen to be a member of the Automobile Club you can obtain a 132-page paperback book on Baja by presenting your membership card at the district office at 1707 N. Towne Ave., Pomona.

Members can also obtain copies at offices located at 403 W. F St., Ontario, and 57 E. Foothill Blvd., Upland.

Since I began law school in September 1973 I have experienced difficulty with the Veterans Administration.

Like many other veterans I am not receiving my monthly allowance with any regularity.

In late August I received an award letter from the VA. This letter stated that I was to receive $224 a monh from September to June.

This was dependent on the condition that I remain in school. I have maintained my end of the bargain but the VA has not.

The VA is currently in arrears for three months.

I began to make inquiries to the VA the first month I did not receive my check. I have not received a word in reply.

Law school is extremely expensive and without the VA allowance I will not be able to continue.—M.O., Chino.

Our inquiry to the VA brought an answer in two weeks and two days that you had been issued a check for $672.

Will you please send me the address or phone number of the Committee for Rights for Disabled, preferably in the Pomona area?

If there is no address for the Pomona area, then one for either Los Angeles County or San Bernardino County will be fine.—L.G., Montclair.

Although we talked with many people, we could find no Committee for Rights for the Disabled.

Our files show that a Committee on the Needs of the Disabled was active in Pomona in 1968 and 1969.

If you are interested in legislative action, you may want to contact the Pomona Valley Chapter, California Association of the Physically Handicapped.

The chapter has headquarters at Casa Colina Hospital, 255 E. Bonita Ave., Pomona, 91767, and inquiries should be addressed to the attention of Sally Grove, president.

No crossing guards for summer school; mothers planning protest

POMONA — A group of Pomona mothers say their children's lives are in danger because there are no crossing guards on duty in the city during the summer school session.

They will protest the situation at a joint school board-City Council meeting Tuesday at 5 p.m. in the Education Center board room, and ask that guards be posted during the remainder of summer school.

Summer school began for the elementary school children on June 24. It will end July 26.

Mrs. Ellen Siler of 165 E. Alvarado St. points out that this is the first year kindergarten children have attended summer school, and because summer school is being held at 20 of the district's 21 schools, a record 3,400 children are enrolled.

"The majority of parents sending kids to summer school aren't aware there are no crossing guards."

"I am particularly concerned because my children must cross busy Garey Avenue to attend Lincoln Elementary School."

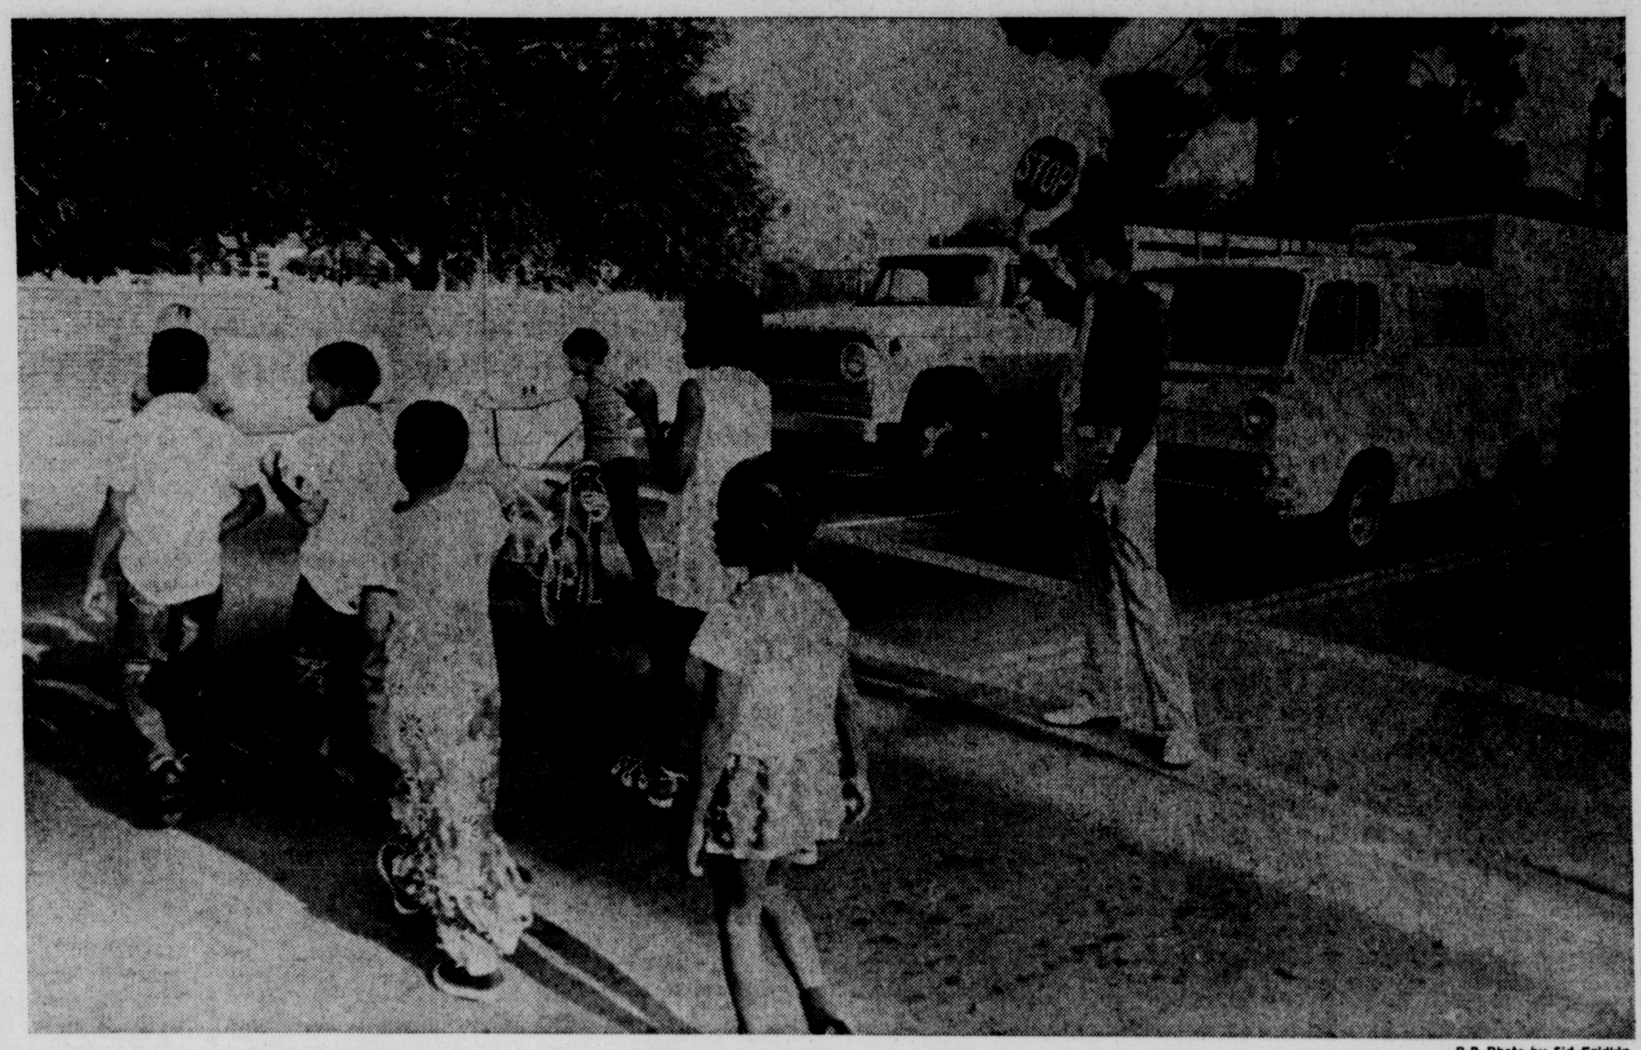

The light at Garey and Jefferson avenues, where children cross to enter the Lincoln school yard, is a blinking yellow light, not a regular traffic signal, Mrs. Siler pointed out.

Lincoln principal Eugene T. Domeno served as guard at the crosswalk this week.

The police department hires, trains and pays approximately 35 crossing guards during the regular school year. But in the past they've never been kept on duty during the summer school session. Traffic Sgt. Roy Dixon supervises the crossing guards in Pomona.

Mrs. Siler said she would propose at the joint meeting that recreation leaders be assigned at the schools to serve as crossing guards until summer school is out.

"There is no lunch break, so guards would only have to be on duty from 7:45 to 8:15 a.m. and from 12 to 12:45 p.m.," she said.

DOUBLE DUTY FOR PRINCIPAL

Eugene T. Domeno, principal of Lincoln Elementary School at 1200 N. Gordon St., Pomona, is on duty this week as crossing guard on Garey Avenue at Jefferson Avenue. Regular guards left the street when school was let out. These children attend summer school and are among 3,400 enrolled this session.

POMONA — New apartments and new school buildings topped building projects here last month.

As with all services offered by the Crippled Children's Society, the camping holidays are free of charge and funded through the annual seal campaign.

Red Cross volunteer award given student

CLAREMONT — The Claremont Red Cross chapter's high school volunteer of the year award has gone to the student who organized a Red Cross High School Council at Claremont High and served as its first president.

Gail Harris, 17, who earned enough credits during her three years at Claremont High to graduate last month as a junior, has completed her tour of duty by entering the Red Cross float for the local chapter in the Claremont Fourth of July parade.

Miss Harris, whose next schooling will be at Citrus College in September, feels the image of the Red Cross should be changed.

"It's not all work as a Red Cross volunteer," she said. "You can have fun, too, in helping out."

Gail the past year planned a busy schedule for the council. When she wasn't busing them every Saturday to Pacific State Hospital to work with mentally retarded children (she was the only council member with a driver's license), she was planning Junior Red Cross month in the schools, raising money through a fashion show, or participating in a Memorial Day ceremony at Oak Park Cemetery.

She reported that Claremont students raised $617.20 during the Red Cross March campaign. She held a kickoff luncheon for student representatives and principals from each school.

Gail is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Harris, 1532 Lafayette Road. At Citrus she would like to study medicine, and maybe go on to be a doctor.

GAIL HARRIS

Candidate to speak

CLAREMONT — Jim Lloyd, Democratic nominee for the 35th Congressional District, will discuss abandoned housing July 9 at a luncheon being held by the Eleanor Roosevelt Democratic Club.

The program will start at noon at the home of Mrs. Juli Arri, 544 Bowling Green Drive. Persons can make reservations by phoning 626-0089.

Vice President Ford coming to Claremont

CLAREMONT — Some 600 persons are expected to attend a $100-a-plate dinner here July 13 where Vice President Gerald Ford will be the speaker.

Ford is appearing here on behalf of Rep. Victor Veysey, R-43rd Dist., who is seeking election in the newly created 35th Congressionl District. Funds from the dinner will be used in his campaign.

The dinner, starting at 7 p.m., will be held at Griswold's Restaurant. Johnny Grant, a radio commentator, will be the master of ceremonies.

Prior to the dinner, there will be a private reception for Ford. This will be by invitation only, with guests donating $250 each to greet Ford and Veysey.

The event, held at Griswold's Old School House, is expected to have a "standing room only" crowd. Norm Williamson and Robert Lewis are co-chairmen.

Persons interested in attending the dinner should contact the Friends of Veysey office at 623-4363.

Rising inflation steals spotlight

There are a couple of things that could push watergate off the front pages. One of them is a war. The other is a worsening of the nation's already severe inflationary fever.

The first possibility, fortunately, appears remote in this year of grace. It is inflation that right now worries the average person, a general and steady increase in prices running just under 11 per cent—the dreaded "double-digit" inflation America has rarely known before.

Inflation would not be so bad if incomes and prices and the money supply all rose proportionately. And on the whole, that is what Americans experienced during the relatively mild inflationary decades following World War II.

The threat to the nation's well-being today, however, is the fact that income—both personal and national—is falling behind the race in "real" terms. When the Gross National Product for the first quarter of 1974 is adjusted for inflation, the GNP actually dropped by 5.8 per cent.

What this means, points out Northwestern University economist, Robert Eisner, is that where prices rose by 10.8 per cent, incomes rose by only about 5 per cent, 'leaving us with 5.8 per cent less of what the economy is all about, the actual goods and services produced and enjoyed."

Unfortunately, like medical scientists and the common cold, which can also be benign or can lead to worse things, the doctors of economy remain ignorant of just what causes inflation, what can cure it or even how it can be kept within reasonable bounds.

An idea currently receiving much attention is something called "indexing" or "indexation" (economists haven't yet decided which). Its chief exponent is Prof. Milton Friendman of the University of Chicago, who claims that indexing has worked a "miracle" in Brazil. In that country, prices were increasing more than 150 per cent a year a few years ago. Brazil's rate of inflation has now been brought down to about 15 per cent, which in view of our own double-digit troubles, almost begins to look respectable.

Under indexing, just about everything—wages, rents, interest rates, taxes and even debts—are adjusted automatically to reflect changes in the cost of living.

In other words, if you can't lick inflation, try joining it.

Indexing is not new. It has been called other things at other times. We already have modified forms of it in such things as union contracts with "escalator" clauses tied to the Consumer Price Index. Social Security benefits are now automatically adjusted to meet rises in living costs.

Other variations have been proposed. In Congress, Senate Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana is backing legislation that would require employers to raise workers wages at least once a year to make up for purchasing power lost to inflation.

On the conservative side, Sen. James Buckley, R-N.Y., favors adjusting federal income tax rates to protect people whose pay raises move them into higher tax brackets while providing no extra spendable income.

The question is whether an across-the-board system of "indexing" would not, as at least one other economist, Ronald A. Kreiger of Goucher College, warns, simply "lock the economy into existing rates of inflation."

In the meantime, there is good news of a sort. A recent analysis of the federal budget by the Brookings Institution reports that inflation is increasing the government's revenues faster than Washington can spend it.

This means, says the analysts, that there may shortly be leeway again in the budget either for new spending or for tax cuts.

Repentance too late for Charles Colson?

We are told that there is more rejoicing in heaven over one sinner that repenteth than over ninety and nine just persons who need no repentance.

If so, the greater the sinner, the greater must be the rejoicing. Heaven must be ringing with the news that Charles W. Colson has seen the error of his ways and has dedicated his life to Christ.

Colson is the highest ranking former aide to President Nixon to be convicted so far in the Watergate scandal. As chief White House "dirty trickster," he once said that he "would walk over my own grandmother" to insure the re-election of Richard Nixon.

The repentance is of course, welcome, and those who know Colson and who helped him arrive at this turning point in his life say that it is quite genuine.

Yet this is the earth, not heaven. Down here, there would be more rejoicing if sinners did not attain positions of influence and importance in the government in the first place. Far better to have ninety and nine just persons in Washington than any number that doeth wrong and later repenteth.

Or ninety. Or even nine.

JACK ANDERSON

Two men who wouldn't give in WASHINGTON — President Nixon's top aide, H. R. Haldeman, ordered tax audits on a dozen White House targets, but the Treasury official assigned the hatchet job ripped up the list in revulsion.

In passing on the order for the audit, which would have violated Internal Revenue Service rules, Haldeman stated or implied he was acting on President Nixon's personal orders, according to then White House aide Clark Mollenhoff.

"Either Haldeman told me the President wanted (the audits) done or that was the implication," said Mollenhoff, a Pulitzer prize-winning reporter. "I was just the conduit," he said.

As Mollenhoff remembers it, Haldeman called him in March or April 1970, and informed him he would be getting a list of names on which a "routine examination . . . or audit" was to be done.

Shortly thereafter, either Haldeman himself or the late Murray Chotiner, also a White House aide, delivered the list of about a dozen names. Mollenhoff had made a few tax inquiries at IRS before, but he told us that "this time, it was one of those things when there was something different."

Nevertheless, he forwarded the names to IRS Commissioner Randolph Thrower with a request that they be examined. Thrower told us that if the list had been backed up with specific data, he would have sent it to the field as he is required to do.

But, he said, "I certainly did not want to do it," with only a list of handpicked targets. In milder, but final words, he told Mollenhoff he wouldn't go through with the deal, and backed it up with a memo.

Far from slacking off, the White House tried a second approach. This time, Chotiner was the "conduit" to Treasury. Ironically, his own income taxes had been relentlessly audited during the two previous Democratic administrations.

But Chotiner summoned the Treasury Department's highly respected law enforcement director, Martin Pollner, to the White House.

"I got this call that he wanted to speak to me," recalled Pollner, now a New York lawyer. "He told me, "if it's possible as a public service (since) anyone can be audited, these are people I suggest.' "

Without further ado, Chotiner produced an envelope and handed it to Pollner. In it were about a dozen names typed on paper with no letterhead.

"I felt it as an improper approach," Pollner said, explaining his distress. Yet, he was also aware of the dangers of refusing White House orders.

Badly shaken, he left Chotiner to return to his own office just across the street. But once outside of Chotiner's sight his resolve hardened. He took out the list and "I ripped it up and threw it away," as best he recalls in a trash can near the White House.

Still, the White House was determined. Chotiner called Pollner at least twice to remind him of the audits. Pollner said he fenced Chotiner off by saying, "I've got a couple of other things I'm doing."

While neither Mollenhoff nor Pollner say they can remember the names, Thrower, reached by my associate Les Whitten in Atlanta, says he recollects they were definitely not names of administration figures simply being checked out.

Both Mollenhoff and Thrower have given their stories to Watergate investigators but Pollner told us they have never contacted him. "I'd as soon it was never mentioned," he sighed.

Chotiner made his peace with Watergate sleuths last December, a few weeks before he was killed in an auto accident. He confided to them that he had been given "a list of people with a request to perform tax audits on these persons." Chotiner said he passed on "this list of 10 or 12 names (to) Mollenhoff and to Martin Pollner."

Footnote: Haldeman could not be reached, and the White House has denied the President personally tried to misuse the IRS. However, in a previously reported incident, White House counsel John Dean attempted to get then IRS Commissioner Johnnie Walters to audit White House "enemies." He, too, balked.

POWER PLAY—At a time when the power industry is most in need of strong regulation, President Nixon has named a minor Watergate figure as one of its federal regulators.

He is Dan Kingsley, a former White House personnel chief still on the White House staff. He was nominated to replace Federal Power Commission Albert Brooke.

The Senate Commerce Committee, when it looks into the nomination, is certain to question Kingsley about his role in the notorious "Responsiveness" program set up by political plotters John Mitchell, H. R. Haldeman and Fred Malek.

"Responsiveness" was a fancy name for using the entire machinery of government, including grants and patronage, to drum up political support for President Nixon. The special prosecutor's office is now investigating it.

Confidential memos reveal that Kingsley, while not a key figure, cooperated willingly with the scheme. Two of his staffers were busy henchmen for "Responsiveness," and Kingsley carried out several projects for the Mitchel-Haldeman-Malek troika.

In an agonized talk with us, Kingsley said he had done no more than any presidential subordinate would do. "I am my own man," Kingsley said.

So they say

"Make reform meaningful enough to your own populace, give them a real stake in the future and there is no need to fear insurgency."

POLITICAL PARADE

Whither Proposition No. 9?

By CLEM WHITAKER JR.

Now that Proposition No. 9 has been sealed into California law in the name of political reform by about three-fourths of the less than 50 percent of California registered voters who took the trouble to go to the polls on June 4 the question arises: whither?

Legally that may not be answerable for some time, in view of a number of expressed intentions to test the complex initiative.

Philosophically, it already has been answered to some extent by the not-unexpected breakup of the measure's odd-couple sponsors, Common Cause and the People's Lobby over who gets the most credit for doing what to who.

Opponents, with organized labor as the most vocal example, warn that Prop. 9 will, among other serious things, shackle the ability of average individuals to have a strong voice in local and state government through their unions and organizations.

California's populist People's Lobby has been quoted as seeing Prop. 9 as a boost in its drive to spread theinitiative system throughout all the land.

More suburban-oriented, well-financed, nationwide Common Cause reportedly sees it as a giant step toward the goal of public financing of elections, and a stimulus to other states to enact similar "reform" measures.

Whether a stimulus is needed or not is questionable. Other states have been pretty active on their own. In a recent national survey of political reform measures, the Associated Press collected some interesting data.

Like California, Kansas had established disclosure and conflict of interest laws.

Various reforms also had been approved already in Alaska, Arizona, Connecticut, Florida, Georgia, Indiana, Kentucky, Maine, Maryland, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Jersey, New York, North Carolina, Oklahoma, Ohio Rhode Island, South Dakota and Wyoming.

Nine other states passed bills in 1973 and two approved some reform legislation prior to last year. They are Alabama, Hawaii, Iowa, Massachusetts, Michigan, Nevada, Oregon, Texas and Wisconsin, in 1973 and Washington and Arkansas earlier.

Four states have measures pending: Pennsylvania, Louisiana, Illinois, and Delaware.

New Hampshire, Missouri, Vermont, Tennesee, New Mexico and Idaho defeated reform measures, or let them die.

A sort of so-what, no-action attitude has prevailed in Utah, North Dakota, Mississippi, Colorado, Montana, South Carolina, Virginia, and West Virginia.

Which would stem to make Proposition No. 9 a clarion "reform" call to a lot of people who have already answered.

Reverse discrimination

Regarding the story in the Progress-Bulletin on June 20 about a superior court judge in Santa Rosa who banned the singing in public school of a kindergarten verse with the word "God" in it.

Superior Court Judge Joseph Murphy Jr. proclaimed that Rohnert Park Public School of Sonoma County was wrong in "permitting" children to sing the song "Thanksgiving," which ends with the line "Thank you, God, for everything."

For the learned judge to fash over the word "permitting" and prejudicially neglect to point out that permitting exercises freedom of choice and does not require or advocate . . . was a ludicrous omission. Therefore, by this narrow view of the word, he banned the song from use. This decision has strong earmarks of discrimination in reverse.

Taxpayers and supporters of public funded schools and universities sit on their fannies and fail to demand hearings of their beliefs and views . . . while weak school administrator fall for the demands of a few . . . and then delete invocations and benedictions at some graduation exercises.

Our Constitution and public education were founded by dedicated beliefs that there is a higher authority than man. Let us begin to exert effectively . . . before some little judge rules that the silver dollar be banned because it has enshrined on one side, In God We Trust . . . , or that the U.S. Senate be forced to drop its 200 years of opening sessions with a prayer. Thank God that prayers are never forgotten! — Herman A. Buckner, Pomona.

Gossip for today

Whatever became of nice old fashioned girls like "Pollyana" or "A Girl of the Limberlost"? — A good question! For in today's world there seems to be no end to the number of women who will go to almost any lengths to prove they are the dominent sex.

There's this recent divorcee! Not content with collecting her alimony, she has also won visitation rights to the family poodle.

Another enterprising female has been awarded $9,000 because her pet poodle suffered "mental trauma" as a result of "unprofessional" grooming.

And I am told that when a young lady in the East realized how much money can be made in the automobile business, she immediately became "Honest Joan the Used Car Dealer."

But even though "Pollyana" and our "Limberlost Lass" are little more than nostalgic memories, believe it or not there are women in this world who still want to be women. —Haven't you noticed how few, if any, of our movie sirens are raising much of a fuss about chauvinistic male thinking? They're more than willing to be treated as high flying identified sex objects.

RAY CROMLEY

U.S. missile might be detente price tag

WASHINGTON — Apocryphal stories about men in the public eye sometimes reveal as much as the true stories, for they indicate a view of the man held by his colleagues and observers.

The story being told about Henry Kissinger in Washington these days is that he is working to discourage programs for the international celebration of the American Independence Bicentennial for fear that an emphasis on individual liberty would annoy the Russians and thus discourage their interest in an increasing relaxation of tension between the world's two superpowers.

The story illustrates a central characteristic of Kissinger's thinking. He sacrifices issues he considers secondary in order to achieve his main goals.

Detente with Russia and China is Kissinger's prime goal. He made it clear to associates in the crucial days of the Vietnam war that if the chance of detente was impaired by our relations with South Vietnam, Cambodia or Laos, so much the worse for those relations.

In this same vein, a high adviser in the Nixon administration who favors nuclear parity with the Soviet Union, was approached the other day by an associate reporting Kissinger's latest counter argument to parity. The Russians, the reasoning went, require and should have more intercontinental ballistic missiles and more missile power than the United States because Moscow must not only be able to balance off the American force but be able to meet the China threat as well.

This argument is most curious on its face. It is known that Soviet diplomats are convinced China eventually will be in Moscow's camp and opposed to Washington.

We don't know whether Kissinger had decided to follow such logic in dealing with the Russians, or whether he was trying out this argument within the administration to determine whether it would sell here at home.

The laudable Kissinger dream of detente becomes dangerous if it becomes so much of an obsession that the Secretary of State is blinded to the dangers which would result from a treaty which ignored military-technical realities. The situation is especially dangerous today when a Watergate-weakened President is in no position to lay a firm restraining hand on his strong-willed secretary of state.

Look then at some of the problems:

The Kissinger people are now discussion setting yield liimits on Mirv warheads (MIRVs are missiles with independently targeted warheads), limits which could put the United States at serious disadvantage. Because of the much greater number and size of Soviet missiles in the works and the greater number on MIRV warheads (MIRVs are missiles with independently yield per warhead would give Moscow obvious firm superiority once Russian accuracy approached ours. Secretary of Defense Janes Schlesinger had hoped to offset this Soviet size-and-numbers advantage by using new technical research to develop greater yields for the smaller American warheads.

The Kissinger men have also proposed limiting the number of ICBMs which could be converted to MIRVs. But today there is no secure way to verify whether Moscow is living up to such an agreement. From a spy satellite, a MIRVed ICBM looks precisely like an unMIRVed weapon. The difference is under the skin.

Kissinger's talk of an agreement on underground testing of nuclear weapons is likewise dangerous at this time. Even a limited partial ban is foolhardy. Scientists at the California Institute of Technology, at leading Japanese research laboratories and at other scientific stations in the United States and abroad have made remarkable progress these past few years in distinguishing earthquakes — but under very precise conditions where a great deal is known about the situation at the earthquake center.

These abilities are a far cry indeed from dealing with underground nuclear tests thousands of miles away in virtually unknown regions whose characteristics can only be guessed.

Desi Arnaz story in supplement

Musician-actor Desi Arnaz in Sunday's Family Weekly in the Progress-Bulletin tells writer Peer J. Oppenheimer "my children prove even a broken marriage can be worth it!"

In an article titled "Out of Retirement and Back to Work," Arnaz is quoted as saying "at one time I was president of a studio, starring in my own series and was responsible for 20 other shows.

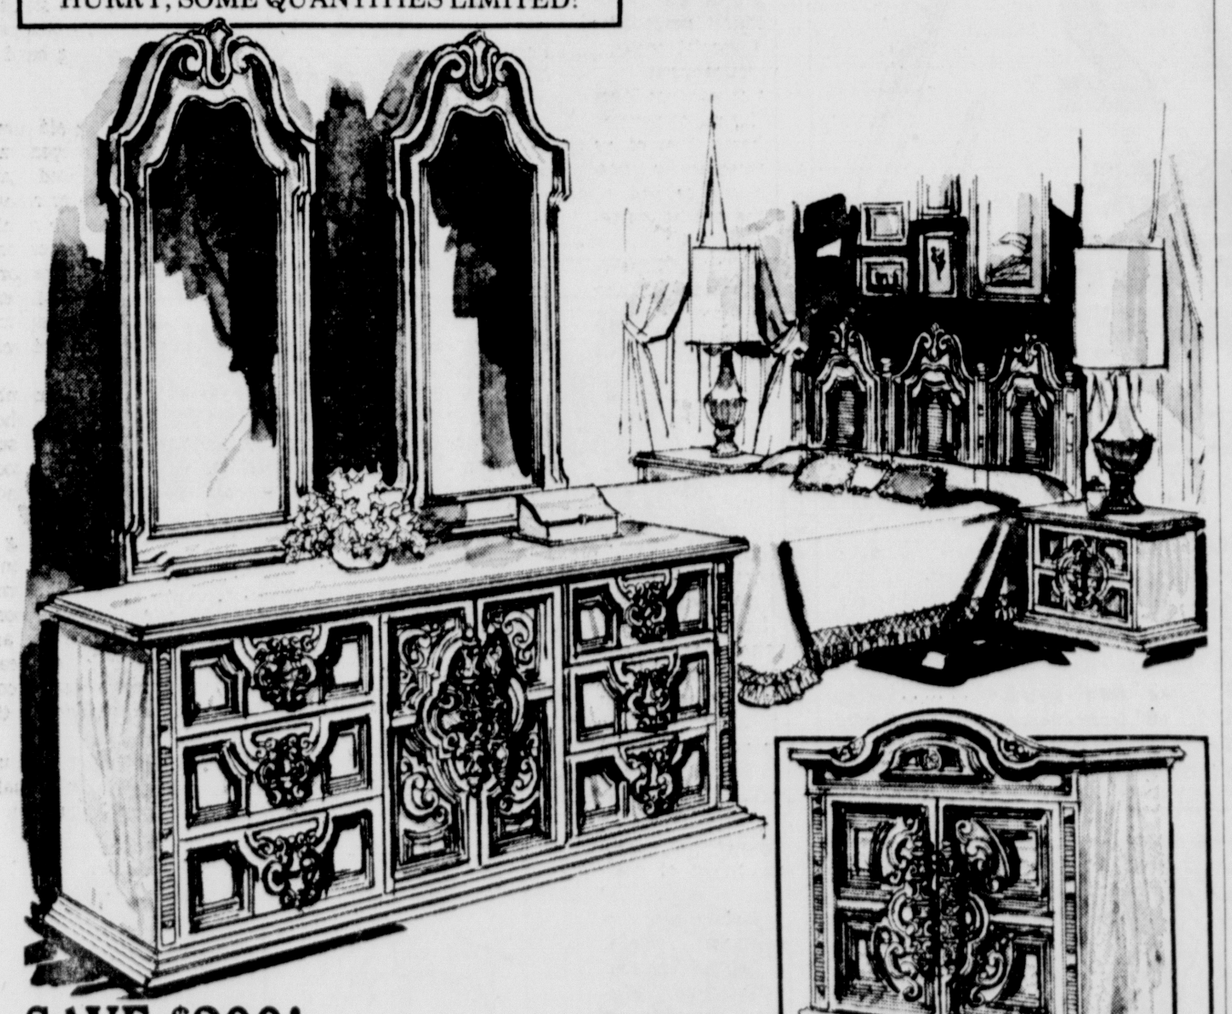

"I had 35 sound stages and 3,000 people to take care of. If I quit, they were out of work. It became a monster."

Arnaz tells how he got started and how he and actress Lucille Ball are better friends today than they were while man and wife.

Arnaz said that even though both he and Lucy have remarried they will celebrate their children's birthdays together.

Despite glut

Little chance beef prices to go down

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's new economic chieftain, Kenneth Rush, has set out to increase prices to cattlemen while at the same time holding out the promise of keeping beef prices from going up to consumers.

To succeed at that, Rush would have to be a greater negotiator than Henry Kissinger. And that miracle is not about to happen.

Rush has backed away from his first assumption that middlemen's profits are too high, and that retail prices could come down while prices to cattlemen went up.

The middlemen have come up with figures to show that they are only now returning to their normal markups for beef, having narrowed their margins considerably while beef prices were zooming last year.

Packers and distributors say if they hadn't cut their margins, they wouldn't have sold meat at all because of consumer resistance to high prices.

Some basic facts are getting lost in the unquestioned deep trouble in which some cattlemen find themselves.

Cattlemen, with Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz backing them against any price restraints, simply priced themselves out of the market.

There's a glut of beef on the market in that there's more meat available than people want to eat and consumption has actually been falling off. The demand is there, but not at today's or yesterday's prices.

Cattlemen forgot that when there are no restraints on the prices they charge, the sky's the limit on the prices they have to pay.

They paid record prices for feeder cattle and the feed to fatten the cattle for market in the expectation beef prices would remain at record peaks.

Expensive cattle are now ready for a market which simply won't support the price paid for them. (More than ready; the cattlemen kept them off the market to try to break consumer resistance.)

In order for cattlemen to break even or to make a profit, according to their own figures, prices would have to go up 25 per cent or more —at the retail level, too.

There is no 25 per cent margin to absorb by middlemen.

Cattlemen say they've been losing $100 to $120 —even as much as $150 —a head on cattle, counting what they paid for the feeders and the feed.

They're talking about cattle of about 1,000 pounds which were selling for $350 to $400 a head. That means they're talking about needing something around $500 and more per head to get the cattlemen out of the red.

Retail prices would have to go back to last year's peaks to support cattle at $500 a head.

Special sales to lure in the customers could help. But everything the government is considering —from buying up meat for school lunches to getting foreigners to cut down on their shipments to the United States —is designed to raise the price to the consumer as well as the cattleman.

This is a temporary situation. The high-priced cattle will soon be out of the market. Cattlemen are now paying considerably less for feeders and feed. That, however, doesn't mean that retail prices can be expected to come down.

Monkey see, monkey due

By JOSEPH FIRMAN

I suppose the most dramatic, if obviously rigged (oil rigged) shortage we have experienced in the past year has been the gasoline shortage, when we all learned to read the sports page by the dashboard light while waiting for our half tank.

There have been other shortages -- meat, bread, plastics. (Why can't there be shortages of nuclear weapons and Saturday night specials and drugs?) Johnny Carson said there was a toilet paper shortage (joke) but because he said it, there promptly was. (NBC is god, and Johnny Carson is his profit.)

The latest shortage to come swinging down out of the economic jungle is monkeys. Well—you heard me. Don't just sit there with your jaw agape. This country is faced with a serious shortage of monkeys, and what are you doing about it? Making a monkey of yourself. It won't help.

Monkeys are being hoarded on world markets like gold and oil, and the shortage in this country could seriously impair medical research. Dr. W. Richard Dukelow of Michigan State says the United States needs 56,000 of the furry little rascals each year in order to keep up research on heart disease, hardening of the arteries and other natural shocks the flesh is heir too. (Dr. Dukelow is head of the endocrine research unit at Michigan State. I looked it up, and couldn't understand what it meant. Unit, that is.)

"Heavy lumbering in monkey habitats, the Vietnam War and political alignments have caused a rather severe shortage of monkeys in the United States," Dr. Dukelow said. "Next year India will cut its export of rhesus monkeys from 60,000 to 30,000." We'll all go ape!

As in all cases where we monkey around with supply and demand, the price goes up. Rhesus monkeys, the best for medical study because they are most like humans but don't watch I Love Lucy, have gone from $40 to $100 this year, and Dukelow says they'll soon be retailing at $400 if you're in the marts of Rangoon and New Delhi.

The squirrel monkey, Ameirica's most popular pet monkey but "the most important clinically" (doesn't that sound ugly?), was $23 three years ago and now you're lucky to find one for $65. "More fun than a barrel of monkeys" is taking on a new connotation.

Oil is now reported to be worth its weight in monkeys, and the United States is currently negotiating with Peru to increase monkey exports. Our simian ancestors may yet play a part in world affairs. It would be practically an act of war for Peru to cut us off without a monkey. Kissinger would go bananas!

It might lead to gorilla warfare.

Not the hair, but the eyes

Client insists that the portion of the female anatomy most lionized by the poets is the hair. Not so. It's the eyes. Even the ears have received more mention. The hair comes in third. Fourth, lips. And fifth, bustline. At least, such be the indications from a lengthy study of English verse.

Q. "WHO invented India ink?"

A. The squid. That's where the original India ink came from, the sac in which the squid manufactured its camoflauge flud. Understand a lot of that ink is still used in the Orient.

AGE 10 is that year of life when the average person sees best. Incidentally, that's also the safest year of life, statistically.

BEARSKIN

Centuries ago in England, an optimist proverbially was described as somebody who sold the bearskin before catching the bear. The London Stock Exhcnage was a busy place for such optimists more accurately called speculators. They sold stocks before they bought them with the expectation that prices would fall. And observers dubbed them bearskin jobbers. Eventually, that nickname was shortened to bears. To mean those gamblers who only worked the falling markets. Their opposites worked the rising markets. So came to be called bulls, the natural enemies of bears. That's how the bears and the bulls got into stocks.

Washington's stern jaw caused by lead dentures

CHICAGO (UPI) — George Washington's jaw looks stern and set in his famous portrait by Charles Willson Peale because his dentures were fashioned from a pound of lead.

An article in the July issue of the Journal of Oral Surgery says that if Washington had relaxed his face muscles, the false teeth would have dropped out of his mouth.

For another portrait sitting, artist Gilbert Stuart ordered construction of special dentures carved from hippopotamus ivory for Washington, in order to fill out his face, the article said.

A dentist, James Gardette, achieved the artistic goal, but the plates were worthless for eating.

Washington, in addition to his portrait teeth, also had a set of "working teeth", the article said.

The son of a President, Dr. Warren G. Harding II, a Columbus, Ohio, physician wrote the article, entitled "Oral Surgery and the Presidents—a Century of Contrast."

The article says Washington was plagued with poor teeth. He wore dentures from the time he was 57 and lost his last natural tooth at age 65.

The article said Washington's poor oral health was consistent with the many other illnesses that he had survived. His medical record includes notations of smallpox, tuberculous pleurisy, malaria, bacillary dysentery, malignant carbuncle, influenza, typhoid, pneumonia and the streptococcic infection of his trachea, from which he died at 67.

"His survival to 67 years of age was almost a miracle," Harding says, "but his intimate knowledge of sickness and the imminency of death helped him to develop patience and courage so prominently seen in his public career."

Halleran and McCabe vows said in church

Miss Marianne McCabe and William J. Halleran III were united in marriage during a double-ring ceremony read by the Very Rev. Msgr. William J. Barry in Our Lady of the Assumption Catholic Church in Claremont.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. McCabe of Claremont was escorted to the altar by her father. Parents of the groom are Mr. and Mrs. William J. Halleran Jr. of Lawrence, Kan.

The bride's gown of polyester organza and venise lace was fashioned with an empire bodice and full sheer sleeves with lace cuffs. A large bow held the sheer train. Her full-length veil of French illusion was caught to a Juliet cap.

A bouquet of white roses, carnations and stephanotis was carried by the bride.

The bride's sister, Miss Claire McCabe of Claremont, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Sarah Hurley, Lower Waterford, Vt., Miss Nanci Brander, Coronado, Miss Joan Harrington, San Diego, and Miss Ruth Friedrich, Rio Linda.

Charles Allen of Lawrence, Kan., was best man. Groomsmen were Eric Simison, La Canada, James Watson, Los Angeles, Michael McCabe, brother of the bride, and Michael Halleran, brother of the groom. Ushers were James Cochran, Jeff Cochran and Robert Malouf, all of Los Angeles.

Robert McMullen and Bridget McMullen, nephew and niece of the groom, were ring bearer and flower girl.

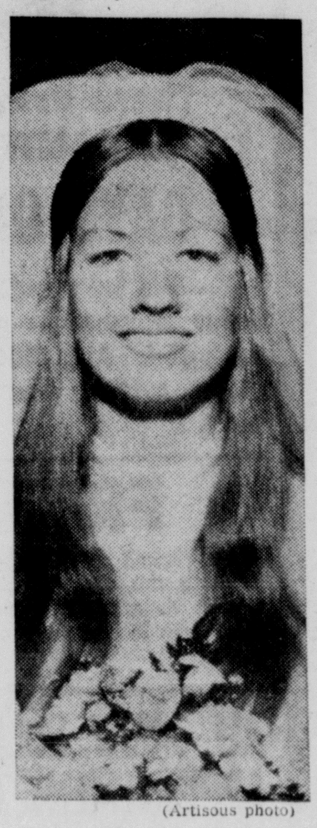

Miss Lizette Nugent and Miss Becky Black of Los Angeles were guitarists and vocalists.

A reception for 150 guests was held at Griswold's Inn.

Among the out-of-state relatives of the couple were Mr. and Mrs. Robert McMullen of Green Bay, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert T. McGrath of St. Paul, Minn.

Mr. and Mrs. Halleran will honeymoon in the Hawaiian Islands. They will return to complete their senior year at University of Southern California.

Mr. Halleran is a pre-med major and a member of Delta Chi fraternity. The bride has been elected to Phi Beta Kappa and is a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority and Alpha Lambda Delta honorary women's sorority.

Ask Dr. Brothers

Breadwinner changes

By DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: Two months ago, I lost my job because my employer is going out of business. I am 45 and the father of three so I can't afford to be unemployed, much as I might enjoy a lengthy vacation. Since I've always been a good worker neither my wife not I were too worried when this happened. I figured I'd be able to find something else in a short time.

I now realize that 45 is considered ancient in the job market. What worries me more than anything is that I feel my children are losing respect for me because I'm not bringing in the bread. Now, I'm afraid my wife is going to have to go back to her old job until I find something. This is humiliating to me because it puts her above me in the eyes of the neighbors and my family. I fell like an emasculated bum. — P.N.

Dear P.N.: If your children respect you only, or primarily, because you earn a living and bring in money for family support, then it is high time to clear up this misunderstanding. You should be respected for what you are, what you believe, what you stand for on moral and ethical grounds, rather than for what you do in business, or what your income is.

You may be able to take advantage of this extra time you have with your children to help improve their sense of values. To do this, however, you might first look at your own values and analyze how you see yourself.

Your wife's working shouldn't threaten your masculinity, for it has nothing to do with what you are as a man or as an individual. There is a great danger in our society of placing too much emphasis on what a person does and too little emphasis on what he or she is. Anyone who values himself only in terms of his work faces major problems when the time does come to retire. Such a person also suffers additional psychological problems if he is in any way disabled because of an accident or illness. Each person should have some inner core of self-esteem and self-respect that is unrelated to what he does to earn a living.

Unfortunately, age discrimination still exists even though statistics indicate that workers in their middle years are at their most valuable, most productive period of their lives. Employers have not kept pace with science and seem unaware that man's life span has increased considerably during the past quarter of a century so that a man today is usually mentally young and active for a much longer period than in the past. Despite evidence to the contrary, some employers still believe that the older worker is less flexible, slower, less resilient and less productive.

Unfair as this prejudice may be, I'm sure that you will find some employment in a short time. Forty-five is hardly old even in the eyes of short-sighted employers. You might look into learning a new trade or business, one you would have pursued but had to put aside to raise a family. This may be a difficult period for you but it can also be a very profitable one if you use it to your advantage.

NO VALENTINE FOR BLUE

Angels' Bobby Valentine slides safely into first base ahead of Oakland's Vida Blue in seventh inning Thursday night. The Halos went on to score two runs in the inning, but the A's won, 9-4.

Dodgers 9½ ahead

MONTREAL (UPI) — The happy Dodgers flew into Montreal Thursday night carrying a 9½-game lead over second place Cincinnati.

Manager Walter Alston will send left-handers Al Downing (2-2) and Jeff Zahn (0-0) against Steve Renko (5-8) and John Montague (1-2) of the Expos in this evening's twinbill.

Behind them they left a reflective manager Sparky Anderson of Cincinnati.

"That 3-2 loss to the Dodgers Thursday didn't make me mad, just older," said Sparky, managing a faint smile.

"This is the hour," continued the Reds manager, "if you are a man you'll fight. If you are a dog, you'll lie down. I think we have men on this club."

There was a pause.

"I also think we will rebound," said Sparky, who had just seen his club suffer its third loss in a four-game series with the Dodgers.

"Last week I had a spasm of the back," continued Anderson. "And, if we don't rebound, then I've got a spasm of the mouth."

Walt Alston wasn't about to say the Los Angeles club had a lock on the division title, but the smile on his face said he liked his team's chances.

Doubles by Steve Garvey and Willie Crawford and a single by Bill Russell gave the Dodgers two runs in the top of the ninth off Pedro Borbon and wiped out a 2-1 lead the Reds had taken in the bottom of the eighth when Johnny Bench's two-out bunt single scored Pete Rose from third.

It was only natural, perhaps, that the visitors went to Mike Marshall, who, snuffed out a threat in the ninth by striking out Rose and Ken Griffey to end the game with two runners on base.

As Crawford commented during Thursday's victory celebration, "The Man upstairs must really like Mike."

As for Alston and Marshall's teammates, they must love him.

Mike's victory Thursday was his 11th against three losses. His mound appearance was his 54th of the season and his 14th in the Dodgers' last 15 games.

It was a week ago that the Dodgers embarked on a 15-game trip, their longest of the season.

"I said at the time I'd be satisfied if we won eight of the 15," said Alston. "Now we have already won six and we still have eight left to play."

Poly season tickets on sale

POMONA — Response to Cal Poly's family season ticket plan for home football and basketball games has caught nearly everyone by surprise.

In a little more than two weeks over 150 tickets have been sold, well ahead of projections which officials hope will produce 2,000 sales.

The tickets priced at $35 each, are good for admittance to five gridiron tilts and 11 basketball contests.

"The ticket is good for every member of the immediate family," head football coach Andy Vinci explained. "It could be a family of eight or a family of four. In any case one ticket will get them all through the gate."

Persons desiring to purchase a season ticket need only to call (714) 598-4635 or write to the Athletic Department in care of the university.

Pincay finally snaps winless string at 19

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — When jockey Laffit Pincay Jr. set a Hollywood Park riding record with his 117th victory of the meeting, he had no idea it would take another 19 mounts before scoring another win.

A Fourth of July crowd of 40,000 Thursday was just as surprised. They made four of Pincay's first five mounts of the day heavy favorites.

But it wasn't until the $85,650 American Handicap that it finally paid off.

Pincay guided the hardluck Plunk, a 5-2 favorite of the bettors, into the lead at the quarter-mile pole and held him there to pull out a triumph in Hollywood Park's traditional Independence Day feature for his only victory of the day.

But the win came almost despite his planning.

"I didn't really want the lead," said the 27-year-old Panamanian, who dropped 18 straight races in three days after breaking his own Hollywood Park riding record Saturday. "It's so tough to win that way.

"But everybody was taking back and I didn't want to be forced wide. He's a real gutty colt who always gives his best."

Plunk did not do all the work by himself, however. Mr. Cockatoo took over the lead at mid-stretch and Pincay had to resort to powerful righthand whipping to rally the black colt under the wire first.

The fast-closing Scantling grabbed second and Mr. Cockatoo was third.

The expected favorite, the tri-coupled entry of trainer Charlie Whittingham, finished out of the money, with El Rey making the best showing in coming in fifth.

War Heim was fourth, while Century Handicap winner Big Whippendeal was sixth in the field of 11.

A cinch to take the Hollywood Park riding championship for the meeting and the nation's leading jockey, Pincay captured his 13th stakes score of the season and is now only five shy of Bill Shoemaker's single season stakes record.

Plunk's trainer, M.E. Millerick, who received his first stakes win of the meeting, disclosed the son of Seaneen has had its share of bad luck physically.

"First he had a bad foot that caused us all kinds of problems," Millerick said. "Then, after he won the Alibhai Stakes across town, he came back from galloping one morning with a real bad cut on his left front leg. But he's good right now."

A field of six 3-year-olds, headed by Hollywood Derby invitee Top Crown, is featured today in the $20,000 Woodland Hills.

A's take fireworks from Angels

By DON BRADLEY
.P-B Staff Writer

ANAHEIM — The Angels nearly laid a bomb on 41,760 fans on July 4.

Fortunately, they came up with a few late-inning fireworks to keep from being completely humiliated in a 9-4 Oakland win Thursday night at the Big A. But it was the Athletics that did most of the exploding, some of it with help from the Halos.

For the second game in a row, the Angels were guilty of three-errors. The first four Athletic runs were unearned. The visitors led 8-0 before the Angels got a man on base.

Vida Blue (8-8) had a perfect game going for 5 2-3 innings. The former Cy Young Award winner struck out the side in the first inning and fanned seven in the first five innings, winding up with 11 strikeouts.

"We were never in the game," admitted manager Dick Williams. "I thought the fireworks weren't supposed to come until afterward."

The new skipper was joking, but then he turned serious.

"I've got some ideas on a few things," he told writers. "One thing we can do is to start getting on the telephone and having our scouts look over a few players from our minor leagues."

What he plans to do is to go over the entire roster, first with his coaches and then with general manager Harry Dalton and the Angel scouts on a general evaluation of the whole team player by player. Then there will be some changes, probably bringing up one or more players from Salt Lake City.

"I can tell you we're not going to stand still and say we can win with these guys when we HAVEN'T done it," he said darkly.

The Halos' 32-50 record is the worst in the major leagues. They have won only eight of their last 32.

"If we went down one more step, we'd be in the minor leagues," he said.

It looked like a minor league game when the Athletics scored four unearned runs in the second inning.

Starter Dick Lange (3-4) fanned Reggie Jackson. But Joe Rudi and Gene Tenace lashed singles to right. Lange walked Ted Kubiak, who was hitting only .190 lefthanded, on four pitches.

Larry Haney, possessing a .111 average with five hits and no runs batted in 33 games, grounded to Paul Schaal at third. Schaal making his first start in a week, bobbled the ball and Rudi scored.

Bill North beat out an infield hit to deep short on which Tenace scored. Kubiak also kept on coming and should have been out at the plate.

But Lange cut off Dave Chalk's throw, turned and LOBBED the ball over the head of catcher Ellie Rodriguez and 15 feet to the third base side of home plate.

Kubiak scored and Haney raced around to third and North advanced to second on the error. Bert Campaneris singled to right scoring Haney, but North was out at the plate on a good throw from Lee Stanton to Rodriguez.

A walk and singles by Rudi and Mangual gave the A's two more runs in the third and raised the score to 6-0. Skip Lockwood replaced Lange and got the third out.

Lange had been tagged for six hits, six runs (two earned) in 2 2-3 innings.

Lockwood sailed through the fourth but gave up a leadoff single to Jackson and a home run to Rudi in the fifth to make the score 8-0.

Rudi went 4-for-5 and wound up with four runs batted in and he scored three himself.

The Angels broke through in the sixth thanks to Sandy Alomar and Winston Llenas, who went into the game at second base and right field in the top of the inning.

Alomar became the first Halo baserunner when he struck out on a wild pitch and reached first base before Haney could retrieve the ball and throw him out.

Llenas socked Blue's first offering over the leftfield fence to put the Halos on the scoreboard.

It became an 8-4 game in the seventh.

Frank Robinson opened the frame with his first hit since being named captain prior to Monday's game. Bob Oliver popped to third, but Bobby Valentine beat out an infield hit.

Schaal struck out. But Rodriguez lined a double into the slot in left centerfield. Robby scored easily and Valentine scored all the way from first on the play.

The Athletics got their final run in the eight on two walks (off John Cumberland), Valentine's error and a single by Kubiak.

That made the score 9-4 and, aside from a leadoff single by Llenas in the eighth, the Angels went quietly in the the final two innings.

Thursday night's crowd was the sixth largest in Halo history. Five of the six have come on July 4 including the largest, 44,631, in 1971. . .

Angel coach Jimmy Reese was honored in pre-game ceremonies for his 50 years in professional baseball. Reese, 68, was once a roomate of Babe Ruth on the Yankees. . . .

Stanton, who moved to center when Llenas went into right, struck out in all four at-bats against Blue. . .

The Halos now have lost five in a row including all four under Williams, Bobby Winkles must be laughing. . .

Chuck Dobson pitched eight innings at Salt Lake City Wednesday night. He struck out five, walked two and allowed but one earned run in his first start since his purchase from the Mexican League.

ANGEL ANGLES — The surprising Cleveland Indians open a three-game stand tonight. Nolan Ryan (10-7) and lefthander Fritz Peterson (5-4) will handle the pitching chores tonight. Ed Figueroa (0-0) will make his first start Saturday night against Dick Bosman (0-0). Frank Tanana (4-12) and Jim Perry (7-7) will wind up the series Sunday at 2 p.m. . .

Utagawa spends day swimming

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former bantamweight champion Ruben Olivares sparred three rounds Thursday in preparation for next week's World Boxing Association featherweight title bout, but his opponent, Zensuke Utagawa of Japan, did his training by the swimming pool.

Utagawa, the No. 1 rated WBA contender, took an unannounced day off, disappointing several hundred fans who showed up at the Main Street Gym expecting to see him work out.

Utagawa's handlers said the 27-year-old fighter decided to do some loosening up exercises by the swimming pool at his downtown hotel rather than box on a warm afternoon.

Olivares, who had the reputation for being a playboy before this fight, worked three rounds with Frankie Duarte, giving him a total of 95 rounds sparred in training.

"This is the most Ruben has ever sparred before a fight," said Pancho Rosales, Olivares' manager.

Olivares meets Utagawa for the vacant WBA championship Tuesday night.

Upland tournament starts

UPLAND — The Upland American Legion Baseball Tournament could easily be termed the World Series of the San Gabriel Valley, Pomona Valley and San Bernardino County.

The 16-team annual affair will show off 288 of the top baseball players in the vicinity.

In fact, the event could easily be considered an all-star tourney since each Legion team entered boasts of the top high school ballplayers in its locale.

Restricted to District 18 and 25 Legion teams, this year's 14th annual tournament, coordinated by Upland Post 73 manager Ray Baker, is shaping up to be one of the strongest fields ever.

All of the teams from the eastern and western division of District 18 are entered while the 25th district promises to be well represented.

From District 25 will be Redlands Post 650, the Eastern division leaders with an 11-1-1 mark, and Montclair Post 616, runner-up to Redlands with a 10-2 ledger. The West is represented by Tri-City, runner-up Upland, Chino and Ontario Post 112.

Three new entries for this year's affair are La Puente, Rowland Heights and Redlands.

Redlands immediately steps into a pre-tourney favorite while La Puente with pitcher Bob Salas and Rowland Heights behind hurler David Bourque have to be considered darkhorses.

Arcadia, which leads the District 18 East with an 8-2 mark, looms as a favorite. Arcadia won the tournament two years ago. Covina (6-4) should get some consideration while Claremont Post 78 (5-5) has some explosive bats.

In the West, Pomona Post 30 (8-1) stacks up to be a serious title contender with runnerup La Verne Post 330 (6-3), last year's champs, a certain threat.

A dedication of the tourney program, following tonight's 5:30 p.m. first round game between La Verne and Ontario at Upland Memorial Park, will be made honoring four persons. Also on hand to help with the presentations will be Upland Mayor Abner Haldeman and some members of the city council.

At 8 p.m. tonight, Claremont and Upland will tangle at Memorial Park.

Then at 10 a.m. Saturday morning at Alta Loma High, Tri-City battles La Puente while Covina faces San Gabriel, at the same time, at Upland High. While those two games are taking place, Pomona and Redlands square off at Memorial Park in what has to be considered the top game of the opening round—since both are pretourney favorites and both are leading their district divisions.

At 12:30 p.m., Montclair tangles with West Covina at Memorial, Chino opposes South Pasadena at Alta Loma High, and Rowland Heights duels Arcadia at Upland High.

It's even-money WFL won't last

DAYTONA BEACH, FLA (UPI) — Oddsmaker Jimmy "The Greek" Snyder says it's an even-money bet the World Football League won't last longer than one season.

The Las Vegas gambler made the comment Thursday while here to watch the Firecracker 400 stock car race.

Snyder told newsmen he wouldn't be setting odds on games in the new league.

"The WFL is even money to fold during the first year," he said. "I'm not quoting odds on their games. After all, it's nothing but minor league football."

Chris Evert wins Wimbledon singles crown

WIMBLEDON, England (UPI) — Chris Evert of Ft. Lauderdale, Fla. became the youngest girl in 22 years to win the women's singles of the Wimbledon tennis championships today when she overwhelmed Olga Morozova of the Soviet Union, the first Russian to reach the finals, 6-0, 6-4.

The 19-year-old second seed and the well-built Russian physical education teacher are friends and doubles partners but no one could prove it by what went on in center court before the eyes of 15,000 spectators, including several members of the royal family, though they kissed when the match was over.

Chris was merciless in the brisk first set, driving Olga from side to side of the court with punishing forehands and backhands. And when Morozova came up to the net she was passed or lobbed back as an obstacle to Miss Evert's ambition to be the first woman since Maureen Connolly in 1954 to win the Italian, French and Wimbledon crowns.

Miss Evert's victory earned her $16,800. Miss Morozova technically won $9600 but only technically since she gets only $16 a day pocket money plus all her expenses and hands over her winnings to the Russian sports federation.

The crowd, which included Princess Margaret and the Duke of Kent, had little to cheer in what was perhaps the most one-sided final since Doris Hart beat Shirley Fry, 6-1, 6-0 in 1951, but for Chris it was a sweet moment following her straight set loss to Billie Jean King in last year's final.

Miss Morozova, who lost to Chris in the French final, said before the match she hoped to do better on a grass surface, but she never really got into the game, although she did win one more game.

Against power hitters like Mrs. King and Britain's Virginia Wade, Miss Morozova was able to play serve and volley, but Chris never let her dictate the terms and kept her in the back court for most of the 58-minute match.

All the drama of the first set was packed into the 10-minute first game which saw Chris save three break points before finally holding service after the seventh deuce.

Jimmy Connors, who earlier qualified for the men's singles final against Ken Rosewall, arrived with the score 5-0 and could not get a seat. He stood by a post in the players' enclosure, munched on a sandwich and watched his fiancee continue her destruction of the Russian. Jeane Evert stood by his side along with Pancho Segura, their coach.

Olga, who was undecided whether to stay back or come to the net, elected to attack in the second set and her tactics appeared correct when she broke Chris for 2-1. But Chris broke back immediately and the girls again exchanged service games in the sixth and seventh games.

Both then held to 30 and Olga went to 40-love in the 10th game and appeared comfortable. Once again the roof was about to fall in.

A forehand pass, a winner off a first service and a volleying error by Olga made it deuce. Olga now hit a backhand long and finished the match with a doublefault. It was over.

The crowd cheered politely but gave Chris a big ovation when she received the championship plate from the Duke of Kent. The sun even came out as the girls retired to the locker room.

Ken Rosewall of Australia, two sets down and one point away from defeat came back in one of the great rallies of Wimbledon history today to beat Stan Smith of Sea Pines, S.C., and enter the finals of the men's singles 6-8, 4-6, 9-8, 6-1, 6-3.

Rosewall, a few months short of 40, and the oldest man in the singles will meet 21-year-old Jimmy Connors of Belleville, Ill. tomorrow. Connors beat Dick Stockton of Port Washington, N.Y. 4-6, 6-2, 6-3, 6-4 and then said of his next opponent.

"How do you play a legend?"

Pearson, Petty in post-race row

DAYTONA BEACH, Fla. (UPI) — Roaring into the final lap of the Firecracker 400, David Pearson took his foot completely off the throttle of his Mercury, allowing a startled Richard Petty, who was riding right on his tail, to "slingshot" past into the lead.

The maneuver apparently rattled Petty, the Randleman, N.C., racing millionaire. "It's just not like David to do a trick like that," said an angry Petty after the race.

But the trick succeeded and Pearson rode Petty's bumper into the final turn, cut to the inside and passed Petty's slower Dodge just 1,000 yards from the finish line to win his fourth Firecracker at Daytona International Speedway Thursday.

"He usually drives a safer, saner race than that," Petty said. "It could have been that I would have run into him. That's how close it was. Even if he had blown an engine he would have thrown up his hand to let me know what was happening."

Pearson and Petty sparred verbally in the post-race news conference, Petty claiming that the trick endangered both drivers' lives and Pearson maintaining he did what he had to do to win.

"I let him go by," said Pearson. "I knew if he was running second I could draft him."

Pearson recalled how Petty tried to cut him off in the last 1,000 yards, forcing Pearson almost onto the infield grass as the Spartanburg, S.C., driver shot past Petty to win by three-quarters of a car length.

"I thought he was going in the pits," said Pearson. "If he had went in I would have went in right beside him."

Pearson picked up $18,100 for his 27th superspeedway victory on the Grand National tour for NASCAR. His win broke the record of three victories at the July 4th race held by the late Glenn "Fireball" Roberts, who died 10 years ago.

Petty won $10,925 for second place, the third straight year he has been the runner-up at this race which he has never won. But Petty has won four times in the February Daytona 500.

Cale Yarborough of Timmonsville, S.C., and Buddy Baker of Charlotte, N.C., finished in a dead heat for third place. The speedway photo finish camera, which shoots about 300 frames per second, showed Baker's Ford and Yarborough's Chevrolet exactly even crossing the finish line.

Race officials called it a draw and awarded $6,087 to Yarborough and $5,912 to Baker, who is returning to NASCAR racing after a long hiatus.

Bobby Isaac of Catawba, N.C., copped sixth place followed by Lennie Pond, Petersburg, Va., Jackie Rogers, Wilmington, N.C., David Sisco, Nashville, Tenn., and Cecil Gordon, Horseshoe, N.C. All five drove Chevrolets.

Donnie Allison of Daytona Beach, Bobby's younger brother, had to withdraw his Chevrolet from the race after 77.5 miles when his engine overheated.

The average speed for the race was 138.302 miles per hour, far below the fastest average speed of 167.247 m.p.h. set by Yarborough in 1968. There were six caution flags spread over 41 laps.

B. Unser wins Pikes Peak race

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo. (UPI) — Bobby Unser captured his 12th consecutive win Thursday at the 52nd annual Pikes Peak Hill climb and broke the previous stock car record he set in 1969 with a 13:13.6 time in his Dodge Dart.

Montclair stays alive

RIALTO — Montclair Post 616 kept its slim District 25 title hopes alive Thursday with a 7-1 American Legion win over Rialto.

Bruce Richardson fired a five-hitter and fanned 10 for Post 616 to notch his sixth win of the season.

Jeff Keenan's bases-loaded double in the second netted Montclair three runs and put the game away. Pat Proulx followed with the first of four hits he was to garner on the evening to score Keenan.

Montclair now holds a 11-2-1 District 25 record, one game back of league leader Redlands Post 650. Post 616 has two games left in the District season, while Redlands has one reamining. Overall, Montclair sports a 14-3-1 ledger.

Favor Marcano against Chacon

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Former junior-lightweight champion Alfredo Marcano of Venezuela has been established as an early 8-5 favorite to defeat Bobby Chacon of Sylmar, Calif., for the vacant World Boxing Council featherweight title.

Marcano and Chacon meet for the WBC crown Aug. 3 at the Olympic Auditorium.

Million votes for bat stars

NEW YORK (UPI) — Outfielder Reggie Jackson of the Oakland A's and second baseman Rod Carew of the Minnesota Twins are the exclusive members of the Million Club in the American League as balloting enters its final days to select the All-Star team.

Jackson is far and away the leading vote getter in the American League with 1,524,790 of the 3,121,372 votes cast, according to the latest figures released today by the Baseball Commissioner. Carew, the league's leading batter, is the only other player with more than a million votes, totaling 1,187,760.

The balloting ends on Sunday to determine all starting positions, except for pitcher, for the All-Star game in Pittsburgh Tuesday night, July 23.

Boston's Carlton Fisk, who underwent surgery for torn knee ligaments a few days ago, continues to lead the catchers with 718,129 votes. Thurman Munson of the New York Yankees, with 487,054 votes, has edged past Bill Freehan of the Detroit Tigers, with 455,225, for second place.

Dick Allen of the Chicago White Sox, Brooks Robinson of the Baltimore Orioles and Bert Campaneris of Oakland are the leaders at the other infield positions. Allen, a first baseman, has 697,851 votes, Robinson has 684,334 at third base and Campaneris has 986,512 at shortstop.

Trailing Jackson for the starting outfield berths are Bobby Murcer of the Yankees with 614,923, Al Kaline of Detroit with 562,187 and Frank Robinson of the California Angels with 554,531. Kaline, used solely as a designated hitter all season, is another Tiger who has suggested that it wouldn't be fair if he won a starting position.

Blyleven can relax

By United Press International

Bert Blyleven's new course in self-motivation seems to be returning some quick dividends.

Blyleven, who has been struggling this season after posting a 20-victory campaign a year ago, has enrolled in a course that is supposed to teach you to relax and enjoy your work more, something the 23year-old righthander of the Minnesota Twins has had difficulty doing.

He has attended only two classes thus far, but he's apparently done his homework well because his latest pitching effort turned in Thursday night was by far his best of the season...although it did test his patience to the limit.

Blyleven came through with the third one-hitter of his career when he pitched the Twins to a 3-1 victory over the Texas Rangers, but it took a dramatic three-run rally in the last of the ninth to save Blyleven from yet another frustrating loss.

The Twins' youngster, who had lost two 1-0 games earlier this year and had dropped 10 of his first 16 decisions, allowed only a third-inning homer to Toby Harrah through nine innings, but saw himself trailing 1-0 entering the last of the ninth as his teammates struggled helplessly against Jim Bibby.

The Twins, however, got a big break to start their half of the ninth when Bibby, who allowed only four hits over the first eight innings, issued a leadoff walk to Tony Oliva and was replaced by Steve Foucault. Steve Braun greeted Foucalt with a single, sending pinch-runner Jerry Terrell to third, and Terrell scored the tying run on a sacrifice fly by Jim Holt.

That brought up Larry Hisle and he dramatically ended the game with a home run over the left-centerfield fence.

Blyleven, admittedly the happiest he'd been in some time, gave some credit to his new lessons for his achievement against the Rangers.

"I was more relaxed on the mound than I have been lately," he explained. "I think the self-motivation course I've been taking is helping me, although I've only been to two meetings. It also was my first game in quite a while that I haven't had to wear a brace on my back. I hurt my back earlier in the year, but it feels good now."

Brewers 15, Indians 3

Reserve first baseman Mike Hegan drove in five runs with a pair of homers to lead the Brewers' rout of the Indians. Ed Sprague allowed eight hits in a route-going performance to notch his sixth win in seven decisions. Milwaukee collected 17 hits off three pitchers.

Yankees 6, Tigers 4

The Yankees rallied for three runs in the ninth inning to snap a seven-game losing streak. Run-scoring singles by Bobby Murcer and Otto Velez highlighted the rally against reliever John Hiller. Jim Northrup's fifth homer in five games had given the Tigers a 4-3 lead in the eighth.

White Sox 11, Royals 3

Bill Melton, hitting a homer for the third consecutive game, drove in four runs to help Jim Kaat to his ninth win. Terry Forster relieved Kaat in the seventh and notched his 12th save. Ed Herrmann also homered for Chicago.

Orioles 10, Red Sox 7

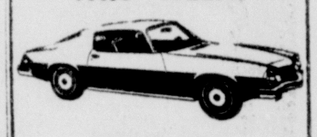

Bobby Grich drove in three runs with a triple and a homer to spark the Orioles to their third straight victory over the AL East Division-leading Red Sox. Earl Williams also homered for Baltimore, which tagged Luis Tiant with his seventh loss in 18 decisions.

Funeral service for Mule Haas

MONTCLAIR, N.J. (UPI) — Funeral services were held today for George W. "Mule" Haas, an 11-year veteran of the major leagues and a hero of the Philadelphia Athletics' World Series success in 1929.

Haas, 70, died in New Orleans last Sunday night while visiting his son, George William Haas, Jr.

Mule Haas broke into the major in 1925 when he appeared in four games with the Pittsburgh Pirates. In 1928 he joined the old A's and spent the next five years with them as Philadelphia won the World Series in 1929 and 1930 and the American League pennant in 1931.

Unser, Andretti in one-two finish

SYRACUSE, N.Y. (UPI) — Al Unser and Mario Andretti finished one-two Thursday on the first 100-mile dirt-track race at the New York State Fairgrounds since 1962.

Averaging 93.872 mph in his Foyt-Ford, Unser garnered the $10,000 first prize in what was the first of a five-event series for the USAC dirt track championship. Fairgrounds officials said he ran out of fuel on the final lap and coasted across the finish line before the 12,000 fans.

Greg Weld was third. Weld and Andretti, who set a track record 112 mph in the qualifying runs, also drove Foyt-Fords.

In all, only 12 of the 24 cars which started the event finished. On the 93rd lap of the race one car slammed into a wall and on the 46th a tire flew off another. Neither driver was injured.

Catfish stocking set

LONG BEACH — More than 350,000 one-year-old channel catfish averaging nine inches in length will be stocked by the Department of Fish and Game in 45 waters of Southern California this year to provide angling for those who prefer catfish fillets to trout, bass or crappie.

In addition to the yearlings, 248,000 sub-yearlings will be stocked in 11 waters of Central California and 10 waters in northern California.

All of these fish will come from the department's Imperial Valley Warmwater Hatchery at Niland, adjacent to the Salton Sea. Hatchery manager Wayne Parker reports that 750,000 channel catfish have been hatched from eggs produced by broodstock at the hatchery and now are being raised to suitable size for planting.

In addition to the yearling catfish to be stocked this year, the hatchery already has planted approximately 230 surplus broodstock in Lake Perris in Riverside County. These fish, weighing seven pounds each, should provide an interesting addition to the 50,000 rainbow trout which were stocked last year and now average about two pounds apiece.

DFG biologists checking Lake Perris last week also found some of the 50,000 fingerling catfish stocked a year ago have grown to 12 inches.

Fishing at Lake Perris will open for the first time on Monday, July 1, and a capacity crowd is expected to try their angling skills on opening day.

Eight of the waters on the Southland catfish schedule are being stocked with channels for the first time. These are Skinner Lake in Riverside County which will not open for fishing until 1975; Cucamonga-Guasti Park lakes and the San Bernardino City water spreading ponds in San Bernardino County; Laguna Niguel Regional Park Lake and Huntington Lake in Orange County; Crystal Lake in Los Angeles County and Conejo Parks and Recreation lakes and Simi Valley Parks and Recreation ponds in Ventura County.

Other waters which will be restocked with year-old channel cats include:

Los Angeles County — Puddingstone Lake, Castaic Lake, Hansen Lake, Legg Lake, Elizabeth Lake, Los Angeles City Parks and Recreation ponds, San Dimas Lake, Harbor Park Lake.

Orange County — Mile Square Regional Park Lake.

Riverside County — Lake Cahuilla, Lake Elsinore, Lake Hemet, Colorado River, Evans Lake.

Santa Barbara County — Cachuma Lake.

Ventura County — Casitas Lake, Piru Lake.

San Bernardino County — Colorado River, Gregory Lake, Glen Helen Lake, Mojave Narrows Park.

San Diego County — San Diego city lakes

Special deer hunts approved by CFG with 4,250 permits

LONG BEACH — The California Fish and Game Commission has approved nine special antlerless and either-sex deer hunts with 4,250 permits for the 1974-75 hunting season.

The commission took its action when it met Friday in Newport Beach after hearing recommendations from individual commissioners who had presided at public hearings in the counties for which the hunts were proposed.

After first proposing 10 special hunts with 3,830 permits, The Department of Fish and Game withdrew a proposal for an antlerless hunt on Hunter Liggett Military Reservation, Monterey County, at the request of the Army.

In addition the number of permits for the Monterey and Los Angeles archery hunts were increased by 150 and 500, respectively — this to help ensure that the previously authorized number of permits will be issued. In previous years, the DFG said, many permits went unclaimed.

Last year the DFG proposed 17 special hunts with 7,452 permits. The commission, after holding local hearings, authorized 13 hunts with 5,375 permits. A total of 968 were reported taken by hunters in the special hunts.

Also approved was a special hunt for Roosevelt elk November 16-24 and Nov. 30-Dec. 8 in two zones in Humboldt County with 50 permits for antlered and antlerless animals.

The hunt, which will be the fourth in the county in 12 years and the first since 1967, was recommended by the DFG because of worsening depredation problems.

Lake Perris opening gets throng of anglers

PERRIS — An estimated 10,000 anglers welcomed the opening of Lake Perris to fishing Monday by reeling in a little less than five pounds of rainbow trout apiece, according to Department of Fish and Game biologists.

The new California Aqueduct reservoir in Riverside County lived up to the prediction that it would prove to be the Lake Crowley of the south, at least for the first few days.

"I've never seen anything like it. They came from all directions," commented an awe-stricken Anthony Ulm, manager for the Perris Reservoir State Recreation Area.

Ulm said cars were lined up in all directions when the reservoir opened its gates at 6 a.m.

"Cars were stretched out two miles all the way to (Highway) 395," he said.

Fish and Game biologist Kenneth Aasen said that a morning survey of 202 boat anglers turned up a total of 466 rainbow trout and about 100 green sunfish. He said the trout averaged better than two pounds apiece and 16 inches in length.

He estimated the number of boats in the water as more than 500.

DFG asks Legislature for alternate finance study

SACRAMENTO — The Department of Fish and Game has called on the State Legislature to undertake a study of alternative methods of financing department operations, which now are borne almost entirely by sportsmen's dollars.

Confronted by a growing deficit and with no relief in sight, the DFG early this year proposed increases in sport fishing and hunting licenses and fees for commercial fishing licenses, party-boat licenses and commercial fishing processing. Fees are set by the legislature.

In response, State Sen. Dennis E. Carpenter, introduced proposed legislation that would provide about $5 million in funds to close the growing gap between current revenues and expenditures in programs of the department and to provide for future increases in DFG costs. The Senate has approved the bill and it has moved over to the Assembly.

"But this is only a stopgap," said DFG Director Ray Arnett. "Because our fees are fixed by law—because they do not fluctuate with rising and falling prices—they cannot keep pace with inflation."

Arnett declared that unless an alternative source of funding can be found, the DFG will be forced to either return to the Legislature every few years seeking higher license fees or cut back its operations and continue to retrench.

"We trust that the Senate Finance and Assembly Ways and Means committees will help us find a way out of this difficulty," Arnett said.

He pointed out that fee increases granted by the Legislature in 1971 were rapidly lost in the inflationary spiral that has eroded the value of the dollar by about 30 cents in the last three years alone.

He said sharply increased costs of fish food and gasoline have added $850,000 to the department's cost of doing business this year, and salary increases have boosted costs by another $1 million. And the salary levels were only those granted to all state employees.

Because no funds were available, the DFG had to defer about $2 million in capital outlay projects during 1973-74 fiscal, and critically needed capital outlay and O&M projects have been dropped—again because of the fiancial pinch—from the 1974-1975 budget.

"Why should sportsmen alone be forced to pay—and at ever increasing levels—for wildlife programs from which everyone benefits?" Arnett asked.

Of the 200 species of wild animals in California, only 7 percent are hunted, he said, and only 35 percent of all species of fish in the state may be taken. Still, he reminded legislators, unhunted and unfished species must be managed.

Department facilities — hatcheries, wildlife areas and others — play host to more than one million visitors each each year, but more than eight in ten of the visitors neither hunt or fish.

In addition to wildlife projects, sportsmen's dollars help support a variety of programs that reach into other fields. For example, more than $1.3 million in license funds this year goes toward environmental services and water quality work.

Great year for albacore

LONG BEACH — Charlie Hooker, marine biologist for the Department of Fish and Game, took one look at the incoming data Monday morning and predicted: "It's going to be a great year for albacore. I am hoping it will be as good as '71, the best in recent years."

The reason for Hooker's optimism? Both commercial and sports boats were reported landing large numbers of albacore Saturday and Sunday inside of San Clemente Island, within 35 miles of the mainland.

Another favorable sign, in Hooker's opinion, was that the albacore ranged from 8 to 20 pounds, representing at least three year classes.

The honor of taking the first sport-caught albacore of the season went to Gene Grimes on the Legend out of Newport Beach. Grimes hooked his albacore Friday at the 60-mile bank.

Pacific Stereo Celebrates the 4th of July of Hi-Fi

We're celebrating the Fourth with a long-overdue salute to the real hi-fi pioneers, those dedicated and not-so-dedicated men who laid the groundwork for the famous fathers of hi-fi like Thomas Edison and Marconi. We've also lowered the prices of the components and complete music systems you see here, thereby encouraging you to join us in our celebration.

Des E. Bell
Des E. Bell – invented the public address system one afternoon when he backed into a pitchfork while carrying a funnel.

G. Gordon Woofer
G. Gordon Woofer – father of the word "tweeter" (a high frequency speaker). He also invented a phono cartridge with absolutely flat frequency response from 20,000 to 100,000 Hz. Unfortunately, only his dog could hear any sound at all.

Elliot Rumble
Elliot Rumble – an early tourist who thought he had discovered the portable tape recorder when he heard the ocean's roar in a conch shell. The shell's failure to reproduce anything else severely restricted its market.

A System for the Price of the Receiver Alone

Yugoslav troupe sets four shows

Abrasevic, a 100-member Yugoslavian dance company, will present performances in the California Theater of Performing Arts, San Bernardino, at 8 p.m. July 18 and 19, and at Shrine Auditorium, Los Angeles at 2:30 and 8 p.m. July 20.

Proceeds from the San Bernardino shows will go to the California Theater Refurbishing Fund. Tickets are on sale at the Ontario Chamber of Commerce and all agencies.

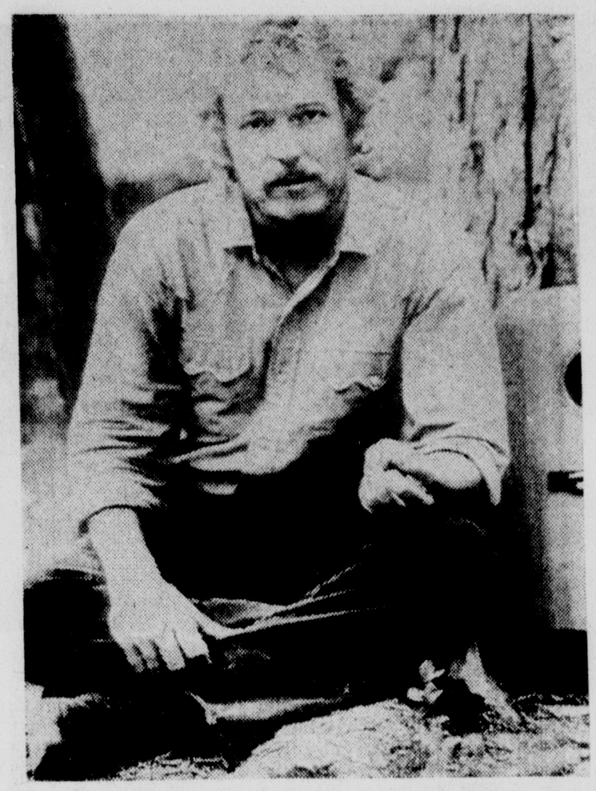

Currently making their first tour of North America, the young artists will spend a nine weeks visiting major cities, including an appearance at EXPO '74 in Spokane, Wash.

The production features two large dance ensembles, the Juniors ranging in age from 7 to 12 and the Senior teenagers, plus a team of gymnasts, a singing chorus, orchestra, a rock ensemble and various specialty acts and soloists. Included are the Ten Igors, 7-year-olds who demonstrate acrobatic agility; the Aambra Gypsies, a rock group, and 10-year-old soprano, Gordana Kesic.

Entering the State Conservatory at an early age, the youngsters are schooled in folk arts as a means of preserving their heritage. By the time they enter the professional company, they perform with the polish, precision and skill of veterans.

Ecuador population

The population of Ecudor in 1974 is seven million, according to the latest census. Guayaquil, the most populous city, has 800,000 residents.

SINGING STAR — Canadian folksinger-composer Gordon Lightfoot will open the summer season at Universal's Amphitheater in Los Angeles with concerts at 8:15 tonight through Monday. Diana Ross will perform there July 16-22. Others to appear during the summer are the Temptations, the Pointer Sisters, Helen Reddy and Paul Williams and Loggins & Messina.

Casa Colina to gain from movie showing

LONG BEACH — Casa Colina Hospital in Pomona is one of five clinics supported by the Muscular Dystrophy Associations of America which will profit from the premiere of a new movie, "Gone in 60 Seconds," at the State Theater, Long Beach, at 8 p.m. July 13.

The film's climactic chase scene involves 48 police cars careening through five southland cities, while five helicopters follow.

A parade and auto demonstration presented free to the public by H. B. Halicki Productions, makers of the film, gets underway at 4 p.m. with Parnelli Jones, who makes his film debut in "60 Seconds," as grand marshall. The 175-piece Long Beach Junior Concert Band will lead Hollywood and sports celebrities including Lyle Waggoner, Telly Savalas, Toni Holt, Peter Lupus, Laugh-In's Johnny Brown, race car owner J. C. Agajanian, Willie Davis, former Green Bay Packers football player, and many more in a stream of more than $1 million worth of automobiles traveling from Elm Street to Pine Strret on Ocean Boulevard.

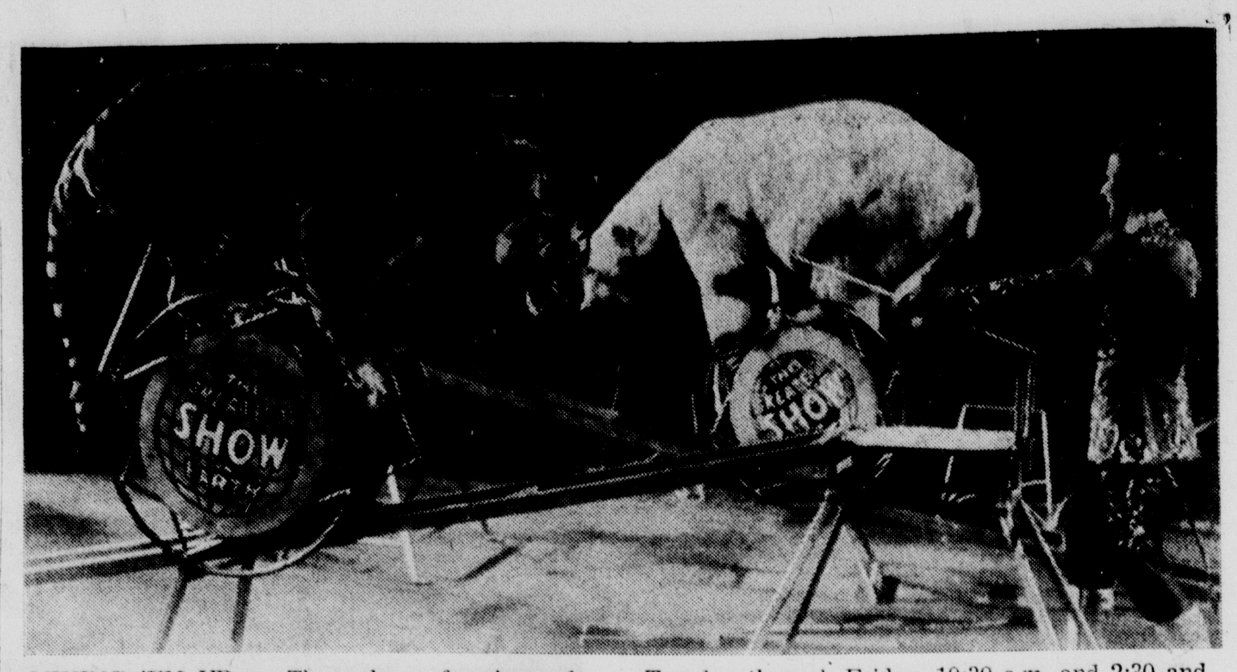

Parnelli's 1974 Cadillac Eldorado convertible and a string of police cars will be destroyed in a spectaucular $25,000 crash to climax the afternoon's excitement.

Halicki produced and directed this one-of-a-kind film. He also drove "Eleanor," the indomitable 1973 Mustang that survived more brutal punishment than any film star in history during a 40-minute chase scene that took seven months tm film.

Some $35,000 worth of automobiles—93 in all—are destroyed in a six-second semonths to film.

Sunfish

Green sunfish are found in most bodies of water, according to fish biologists, but bluegills are most numerous in lakes, ponds and the backwaters of large rivers.

MIXING 'EM UP — The only performing polar bear in the United States is star of the Samel Mixed Animal Act in the Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus. The 104th edition of "the greatest show on erath" will play at the Forum in Inglewood July 16-31. Performances are at 2:30 and 8 p.m. Tuesday through Friday, 10:30 a.m. and 2:30 and 8 p.m. Saturday and 1:30 and 6 p.m. Sunday. The circus plays at the Anaheim Convention Center Aug. 1-13 and at the Long Beach Arena Aug. 15 through 18.

'Greatest show on earth'

Ringling Bros. circus train due

INGLEWOOD — One of the most famous private trains in the world will roll into Los Angeles July 15 carrying performers, animals and equipment of Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus.

"The Greatest Show on Earth" will unload its animals and performers at 9 a.m. July 16 and parade them to the Forum in Inglewood where they will open a 16-day engagement.

The 32-car streamliner will arrive at the Santa Fe Railroad siding (120th Street and Aviation Boulevard).

For over 100 years, Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus has traveled on rails. It is the only circus in the world large enough to utilize a private train to transport its performers, animals, and equipment.

The two Ringling Bros. and Barnum & Bailey Circus units travel on their own private trains. Both trains have their own doctors, water, power supplies, and their own laws—with men to enforce them.

About a third of each train houses circus administrators, performers and other personnel. The remainder are "tunnel" cars (literally shells into which fit the wagons, animal cages, rigging, props and other paraphernalia); livestock cars and flatcars.

Basic furnishings are provided each resident but most tenants of the train add their own personal touches. Some use fabrics and curtains to add color; others panel the walls. Almost everybody has a television set—usually color—and there are stereos and tape recorders in abundance.

Anybody on the train who's looking for a good conversation or maybe a fourth for bridge heads for the "pie" car, the restaurant and social hub of the touring community.

The car, which seats 50 people, opens at 6:30 in the morning with hearty breakfasts—ham, sausage, bacon, eggs, fried potatoes, hominy grits—and also serves lunch and dinner. It's situated near the middle of the train in easy beach of all, and stays open until 1 a.m. for the late-evening, after-the-show snack trade. Food is served cafeteria-style, and prices are reasonable.

Friends gather in the "pie" car for chats over coffee, perhaps a game of chess, or lengthy discussions about circus history. Among the show's personnel are some of the finest circus historians in the world. Chalked on a blackboard at one end of the car is a schedule of hourly runs made by the circus' own bus between train and the current arena. A performance schedule is also tacked up nearby.

Otherwise, social life on the train is like that in any small community—private gatherings of close friends, sometimes for dinner or cocktails in individual staterooms. There's one group which participates in a highly competitive "Monopoly" tournament which begins at the start of the tour and isn't over until the show's final performance of the season.

The "boss" of each living car is a porter who picks up and delivers laundry, dry cleaning and mail, does general housekeeping and looks after the comfort of his charges. The porter also maintains train rules (example: no loud radios or talking after 1 a.m.) within his car.

The people of the circus train are quite interdependent. Need a haircut? There's a juggler who does fine barbering on the side. Have a dress or suit to be altered? See the lady acrobat who doubles in brass as a seamstress.

Guitarist and wife to present concert

LOS ANGELES — Guitarist-composer Laurindo Almeida and his soprano wife, Deltra, will present a program in the Concerts on the Green series in Barnsdall Park, 4800 Hollywood Blvd., at 4:30 p.m. July 21. Admission is free.

Brazilian-born Almeida has written many compositions for television, movies and recordings, the latter receiving five Grammy awards. A Sherman Oaks resident, Almeida has appeared on tour throughout the United States and Mexico and at the Hollywood Bowl, Music Center and Greek Theater.

Deltra Almeida comes from Toronto, Canada, and like her husband, is a U.S. citizen. She has been featured soprano with the Roger Wagner Chorale and has sung at Hollywood Bowl and Carnegie Hall.

Almeida learned to play the guitar in secret since musicians were not considered "gentlemanly" in Sao Paulo, but his musical genius finally won over his parents and he was sent to the National School of Music in Rio de Janeiro. The guitarist came to this country in 1947 when he was soloist with Stan Kenton's band.

Unlike Segovia, who avoided the Romantic composers and concentrated on Bach, Almeida has effectively bridged the musical gap and has transcribed for guitar and performed the music of such composers as Beethoven, Chopin, Falla, Rachmaninoff, Kreisler, Albeniz, Tchaikovsky, Brahms and fellow Brazilian Heitor Villa-Lobos, a personal friend of the guitarist.

The Almeida performance is one in a series offered by the Bureau of Music of the Los Angeles Municipal Arts Department every Sunday afternoon during July, August and September.

In old Atlanta

ATLANTA (UPI) — Atlanta had more prostitutes than lawyers listed in the federal census of 1860. It had as many gamblers as policemen.

Some of the occupations listed, and the number of persons engaging in each, included: bacon dealers, 5; bankers, 2; barkeepers, 5; book peddlers, 2; broker 1; distiller, 1; lawyers, 41; gamblers, 9; locomotive engineers, 59; Negro slaves traders, 9; music teachers, 3; policemen, 9; prostitutes, 49; and well diggers, 6.

Helen Hayes

Veteran actress content with secondary billing

By VERNON SCOTT

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Helen Hayes said a remarkable thing the other day:

"My career remained at the top so long, to my amazement and gratitude, I'm content to take second billing to a Volkswagen."

She was talking about her role in "Herbie Rides Again," a sequel to "The Love Bug." The automobile is the star of the film with human beings in the supporting cast.

As Miss Hayes approaches her 75th birthday she is much in demand as an actress. Moreover, she is anxious to continue working —with some reservations.

"My idea of heaven," she said, "would be to make one Disney picture a year. That would be the perfect career for me now."

Physically Miss Hayes is not as robust as she once was. But she is clear-eyed, bright as a new penny and unimpressed with that tiresome soubriquet, "first lady of the theater."

She works not out of financial necessity but simply because performing is and has been her whole life.

She just completed a nationwide tour promoting her first Disney picture and was, frankly, exhausted.

"This is the only time I've made a circus of myself by promoting a picture," she said. "I'd only do it for Disney. I led a parade in Orlando, Fla., and took part in a festival at Disneyland in California."

Miss Hayes also made whirlwind appearances in Philadelphia, Toronto, Chicago, Detroit, Cincinnati, New York and Atlanta.

"It was really too much for me," she said. "But I've been trouping since childhood and I must say one-nighters hold no nostalgia for me. My bronchitis caught up with me. Now I know why I left the theater.

"Producers keep trying to lure me back again. They even offered me the old lady role in 'Night Must Fall' with my son (James MacArthur of 'Hawaii Five-O') co-starring. But I hurriedly turned it down."

Miss Hayes doesn't kid herself that she is straining her acting talents for Disney.

"There is less emotional and mental demand to slapstick comedy than drama," she said cheerfully. "I was so dazzled by all the glamorous mechanical and technical devises that I forgot about myself and my part.

"I keep learning, however. I discovered how to play wild comedy with total sincerity. It's necessary to believe a comedy situation with all your soul and might or it doesn't work.

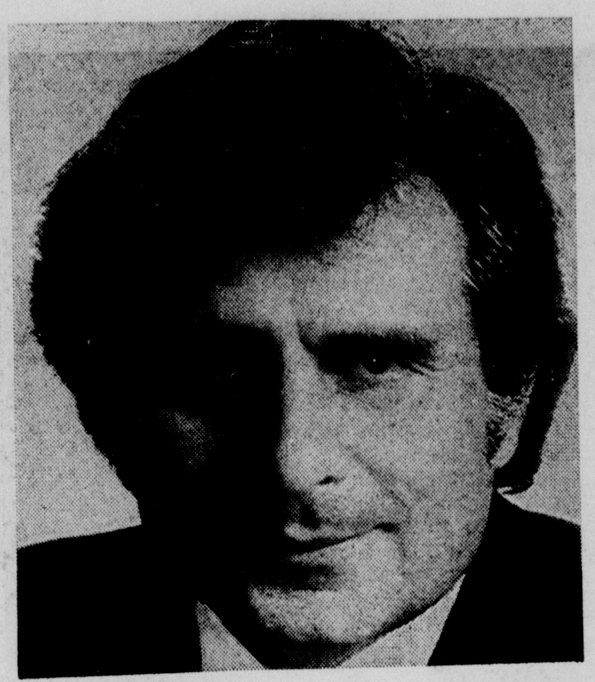

"And Herbie, the car, became as real to me as Gary Cooper when we were doing 'A Farewell to Arms.'"

The long-time star is delighted about the recognition she gets these days from young people and children who saw her in "Airport" and were fans of her television mini-series, "The Snoop Sisters."

"Now I'm a child's delight," she concluded warmly. "So I'm going to do another Disney picture later this summer, 'One of Our Dinasaurs is Missing,' with Peter Ustinov. The minute I heard the title I wanted to do it."

Bit Parts: 20th Century-Fox will produce "Zorro" as a 90-minute television movie for ABC ... Joseph Cotten donated his memorabilia from "Citizen Kane" and "The Magnificent Ambersons" to the USC library ... Edward Asner of the "Mary Tyler Moore Show" will make a guest appearance on the "Columbo" series.

READY TO GO—Giora Bernstein, founder and musical director of the Claremont Music Festival, will inaugurate the sixth annual festival in Bridges Hall, Pomona College, at 8:15 tonight. He will conduct the festival orchestra in Mahler's First Symphony and in Haydn's Sinfonia Concentante. Soloists in the Haydn work are Charles Libove, violin; George Neikrug, cello; Richard Woodhams, oboe, and Ben Kamins, bassoon. Tickets are on sale at the door.

Barry White booked at Greek Theater

LOS ANGELES — Barry White, Love Unlimited and the Love Unlimited Orchestra will perform in the Greek Theater at 8:30 p.m., July 16 through 21.

Love Unlimited is a trio of Glodean and Linda James and Diane Taylor. Sisters Glodean and Linda were born and rasied in Southern California, and they inherited their singing ability from their mother who was a professional gospel singer. They attended school with Diana Taylor who had sung in her church choir since she was 7, and continued in her high school choir. The three girls formed a trio to "earn some pocket money."

By chance they met Barry White at a music session. The composer-performer was impressed by the girls' ability and charm, and they have appeared with him for two years as Love Unlimited. They have several gold records.

Train fare cheap in South Vietnam

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnam has one of the world's highest prices for gasoline— $1.65 a gallon—but travel by train may be the cheapest anywhere.

Although most of the nation's rail traffic has been stopped by the war, it is possible to ride more than 10 miles from Saigon to the nearby town of Thu Duc for just 20 piasters—just over two U.S. cents.

At Knott's, we aim to please.

There's a lot to do at Knott's. From panning for gold to a thrilling log ride down Timber Mountain. From shopping for turn-of-the-century toys to eating a genuine buffalo burger.

But you don't have to do anything to enjoy Knott's. Because... if you like...we'll entertain you all day long.

You're walking Ghost Town, enjoying the old west when gunshots ring out! It's a shoot-em-up showdown between a sheriff and two "funfighters".

Fiddlers and spinners entertain you.

You amble into the blacksmith shop, and watch horseshoes being forged in a shower of sparks.

Hiss the villain.

A barker hustles you into the Birdcage Theater for an old-fashioned melodrama. Hisssssss! Boooo! Yeeaayyhh!

Buy an antique toy bank. Or savor Mrs. Knott's chicken.

Outside, a pretty girl gives a concert on an old steam calliope.

Fiddlin' Charlie plays a hoedown while you buy a hot dog and boysenberry juice at Sutters.

Aunt Hattie shows you how to spin outside an old log cabin.

In Fiesta Village mariachis play and Mexican dancers whirl and turn to the harps and guitars.

You amble over to the Knott's John Wayne Theater to take in the Wild Animal Follies... with wild animals live and uncaged on stage... and a man wrestling a panther and a bear.

Back outside, you step into Gypsy Camp to see Zoltan's puppets.

Music, music, music.

Dusk. And it's time to relax around the fire in Wagon Camp, listening to country rock performers.

Back to the Knott's John Wayne Theater in time for the evening performance by a top name star. Like Rick Nelson. Kenny Rogers and the First Edition. Kay Starr. Or the Lennon Sisters.

Outside again and over to the lake to watch Knott's Incredible Fireworks Machine blaze into action. Like we said, all you have to do is show up. Knott's will entertain you.

See top name rock stars.

Thrilling rides.

Of course, for the action hungry, Knott's is a special thrill. You can ride the Butterfield Stagecoach or the Denver & Rio Grande Railroad...and get in on an old-fashioned hold-up.

You can take the Calico Mine train into the depths of a goldfield "glory hole" across shaky trestles and under raging waterfalls. You try your skills in the arcades of Gypsy Camp.

Or the archery range at Ghost Town.

Ride the Denver & Rio Grande.

For the hungry, there's Mrs. Knott's Chicken Dinner Restaurant. Or the steak house where you dine in view of famous Indian chiefs.

The thirsty can belly-up at the Calico Saloon or Judge Roy Bean's "Jersey Lilly" saloon. (Sorry, boys, sarsaparilla's the strongest thing we got.)

Mums are right for all seasons

Garden chrysanthemums are those rare birds of the horticultural world which, thanks to decades of research, are the true year-around flower. If your garden is looking less perfect this summer than you had hoped, or if for any reason, you are planting late, let mums save the day. Color points of garden mums placed in sunny locations around your garden will give you a summer and fall garden to be envied.

Mumms will "pick up where they left off" at the garden center and make themselves totally at home in your yard, even when planted during the summer months. Summer planting of mums has the additional advantage of allowing the plants to become strongly established before winter.

By the time you are summer shopping for garden mums they will probably have been pinched once and are already displaying the typical short, compact and bushy growth characteristic of the entire group. By late July or August some growers may have early-shaded varieties of mums available. These have been shaded in the greenhouse to produce blossoms several weeks earlier than normal. If you want to enjoy mums even sooner in your yard, perhaps as the background for an early fall garden party, ask for these specially-developed plants.

When buying early-shaded or regular garden mums for immediate transplanting, it's a good idea to water them thoroughly so the roots come out of the pot undisturbed in a good ball of soil. For each plant dig a hole one inch deeper and wider than the root ball. Firm the roots in by pushing the soil toward the stem. Water again thoroughly and fertilize with one tablespoon of dry 5-10-5 or 4-12-4 fertilizer per plant.

Mums adapt readily from pots to the garden bed. With care they will change environments without hesitation in their normal growth sequence. The happy result for you will be a gallery of color within a few weeks. From mid-September to frost mum gardens glow with the special beauty of fall coloring and provide many bouquets for indoor arrangements.

GARDEN MUMS — Pots of colorful garden mums can be a fall spectacular. They can be planted directly into permanent position.

South Sea garden can be grown now

In the free and easy yet luxuriant charm of the tropics is for you, why not bring tropical delights to your own surroundings. The evergreen Hibiscus can be counted on to produce exotic blooms year after year where temperatures do not drop below 27 degrees.

Since the Hibiscus is in bloom now or will be shortly, the California Association of Nurserymen suggests you select these plants now to insure that you get the bloom, color and size you want. You will also want to check on the type of foliage you desire as there is quite a variation. The leaves of some varieties are large and broad while others are graceful and slender. Still others have leaves which tend to crinkle and curl, a trait that is attractive to some.

Bloomwise, you can have just about whatever you want from small single flowers to large doubles. And just name your favorite flower color. You stand a good chance of finding it in the Hibiscus.

One of the most talked about varieties is Fullmoon, so named because its full, widespread blooms of lemon-yellow give a full moon effect. Others yellow and golden varieties are Crown of Bohemia, a double, and Luna, a large single or yellow-orange hues.

Kauai, named for the most beautiful of the Hawaiian Islands, lives up to its namesake with a single rose-pink flower which gives a splash of color even in winter.

Proper care is important. Supplemental watering, in liberal amounts, is needed to keep the plants happy. And in a California garden, use leaf mold, peat and compost, mulched in a good heavy layer at the base of the plant. Infrequent light feedings with any good fertilizer are all you need.

Lawns need mulching

A lawwn in the spring, nurtured by winter rains and a long rest, is a thing of beauty. But now, after days of soil-baking sun and no rain, you could have a problem.

If you haven't laid a proper foundation through mulching earlier in the year, obtain a coring tool and spike compacted area thoroughly. If the entire lawn is in need of it you may want to rent a renovator. It will save you time and labor. Spiking with a spading fork is not the best idea for it tends to compact the soil in the process.

A coring tool removes a plug of soil and leaves the ground open to admit water and food. Brush or sweep sand into these holes to hold them open and water frequently. Roughing the surface and scattering new lawn seed will benefit severely worn areas. Top dressing with a good soil conditioner will lay the ground work for a healthy soil surface and freedom from future compaction.

Water your lawn frequently during summer and feed it lightly at least once a month. One or more of these feedings may be in the form of a high-nitrogen dressing which gives tired lawns a shot in the arm. Feed in the morning early and water thoroughly — not so thoroughly that the food washes away, however.

Weeding is the easiest with one of the chemical weed controls. Ask your nurseryman which type is best for your particular lawn.

Summertime brings many exotic shrubs

Summer-flowering shrubs are less plentiful than their spring counterparts, but California gardeners have a better-than-average selection to choose from. They range from such exotics as Hibiscus and Fuchsias to such general purpose thrubs as Abelia and Escallonia.

Abelia is an old garden friend. Without the familiar Glossy Abelia, which displays small white or pink blossoms each summer, California gardens would be less colorful than they are. Abelia is hardy. Neither drought nor lack of care seems to change the crisp freshness of its green tinged foliage, nor its small tubural flowers. You can get good mileage with Abelias in the foundation or in the shrub border. There's even one prostrate form which makes a marvelous groundcover.

Escallonias, like Abelias, have a crisp, clean appearance that seems unaffected by heat or neglect. They are not completely happy in drought, but resent too much water on the other hand.

Gardener's checklist

Acid loving plants such as Rhododendrons, Azaleas and Camellias will benefit by a summer mulching of oak leaf mold, or other ready-to-use nurserymen's mulch.

Many plants will bloom longer if not allowed to set seed.

California nurserymen are now featuring container-grown shade trees, and your neighborhood garden center has the varieties best for your area. These should be transplanted into your garden now.

Chrysanthemums bought in bloom this month can be cut back when flowering is finished for a second bloom in the fall.

Bedding plants will provide quick color in your outdoor living area. Here are a few of the many to plant: Marigolds, Zinnias, Asters, Dwarf Dahlias, Ageratum, Cockscomb, and Petunias.

Weird metal sphere that rolls by itself puzzles Navy experts

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — A weird metal sphere about the size of a bowling ball that rolls around a table by itself without falling off and makes dogs whimper has puzzled Navy experts.

Mrs. Jerri Betz, whose husband and son found the shiny 25-pound ball in some grass last week, said she plans to air freight it to Northwestern University for examination by one of the nation's leading experts on unidentified flying objects (UFOs), astronomer J. Allen Hynek.

Mrs. Betz said that when the sphere was placed on a table, it rolled to the edge on its own power, and then rolled around the four sides in a series of increasingly smaller rectangles until it stopped in the center of the table, on the spot from which it had begun to roll.

A U.S. Navy examination of the sphere showed it was made of high grade steel, and x-rays indicated there are three or four smaller spheres inside. The Navy said it could not determine what makes the ball behave as it does without cutting into it, but Mrs. Betz wants other scientists to examine it intact.

When the family dog, a toy poodle, was placed near the sphere, Mrs. Betz said, "she began to whimper and cover her ears with her paws, something I've never seen her do before. It was a similar reaction to what dogs do when they hear a high pitched dog whistle.

"If you pick it up, hold it over your head and shake it vigorously, and then put it down, it has a motion inside. It almost feels like its trying to get away from you. It actually feels like a huge Mexican jumping bean," Mrs. Betz said.

Mrs. Betz said she, her husband, marine engineer Antoine Betz, and their son, Terry, 21, a premed student at Florida Junior College, found the sphere lying in the grass while they walked on the family's 20-acre tract on Fort George Island, 15 miles north of Jacksonville.

There was no indication the sphere had caused any damage to the surrounding grass or underbrush, and no indication the shiny metal sphere had fallen from a height.

In Evanston, Ill., Dr. Hynek said from what he has heard about the mysterious sphere it is probably man-made —"but there is no reason some extraterrestial couldn't manufacture stainless steel No. 431."

Hynek said he was intrigued with the dog's reaction.

"One thing we'll do, of course, is connect a microphone and oscilloscope to it and see if it has high frequescy components that our ears can't hear," Hynek said.

He said he told the Betz' he would do "no destructive testing," such as cutting into the sphere, without their permission.

Hynek said it is not relevant whether the sphere might be a hoax.

"It looks like somebody put it there, which would lend support to the hoax theory," he said. "But who goes around making stainless steel bowling balls with pellets inside of them?

"If it was dropped from an airplane, it would have been half-buried, but it wasn't. The grass under the ball was still green, so it must have been left fairly recently.

"I'm certainly not saying that it's anything extraterrestial. But it's sufficiently intriguing to pursue. Maybe we've got a new brand of stainless steel Easter eggs."

Private ownership

More than one-third of the land and one-half of the 40 public hunting wildlife management areas in Florida are in private ownership.

Two firms will do study on Capitol's West Wing

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A legislative committee has selected two architectural firms to begin studies of what to do with California's historic, but aging, West Wing of the state Capitol.

One company is Welton Becket and Associates of Los Angeles, which designed the Los Angeles Music Center and the Kaiser Center in Oakland, and restored the Palace of Fine Arts in San Francisco.

The other is Harry J. Devine Inc. of Sacramento, which has previously conducted studies on the space needs of the legislature.

The legislative subcommittee on space and facilities announced recently that the two firms, working together, will study three basic plans:

—Reconstruction of the golden-domed West Wing and expansion of the existing Capitol complex.

—A new or renovated office building near the Capitol with a connecting tunnel to the existing Capitol.

—A new office building on a four-block site at the east end of the Capitol.

The committee, led by Chairman Sen. Randolph Collier, D-Yreka, selected the firms from 50 applicants and interviews with 11 different companies during a week of closed-door hearings.

The architects were to report back to the committee by Oct. 31. They are to develop cost estimates and consider such factors as energy conservation, parking problems and "aesthetics," Collier said in making the announcement.

Currently, the state has stockpiled $42 million for the Capitol project. Another $30 million was taken out of this year's budget at the insistence of Republican senators, who complained of setting aside all the money while a decision had not been made on what to do with the Capitol.

In signing the budget, Reagan put in a plug for reconstructing the West Wing, which has been deemed a hazard in the event of an earthquake.

"I am hopeful the people of California will not permit the legislature to turn its back on this beautiful old building in lieu of an expensive new structure," Reagan said.
